Neuro-Science

A. We have 3 Brains that are (generally speaking) at odds with each other.

- ~ Reptile Brain (protection, survival, heartbeat)
 - ~ Mammal Brain (nurturing, connection, communal)
 - ~ Human Brain (conceptual, abstract, beliefs)
- >>> Directly Related to the 3 Gunas <<<

B. RAS focuses our attention. How we see the world based on the interplay between the 3 Brains.

- ~ Form beliefs based on what we have seen and experienced.
- ~ We see what we are looking for and negate everything else.
- ~ Filter situations through this perspective.

C. Cognitive Biases

- ~ Change blindness – we do not notice what is changing or contemplate what is missing (passively)
- ~ We believe we are seeing the full picture (when asked most believe they would recognize changes).
- ~ Remembering only affirmation
- ~ Rejecting possible future because it has not arrived
- ~ Logical fallacies

Quantum Mechanics – From Energy to Form

A. Electrons (and smaller particles) are seemingly everywhere at once.

- ~ Double slit experiment
 - ~ They make a “Quantum Leap” from one thing to another. What exists between these regions?
 - ~ Particles are “Waves” until we observe them (String theory) – it can be anything / anywhere until we observe it.
 - ~ Observation / attention forces the particle to appear as “something” – then all other possibilities disappear.
- Called the QUANTUM ENIGMA
- ~ Predictable Probability – there is a “ratio of probability” of certain outcomes. (God DOES play dice!)
 - ~ Entangled particles – observing one also affects the other. Einstein termed it SPOOKY ACTION
 - ~ Einstein was searching for the “Unified Field” that explained this action.
 - ~ Thinkers like John Hagelin propose that “consciousness” is the unified field.

B. Standard Model

- ~ Particles interact with forces to give rise to forms, from this energetic level.
- ~ Recent discovery of Higgs Boson (force) confirms the existence of a field that interacts with certain forces

A Few Conclusions / Confirmations:

1. Attention / intention creates something out of nothing – or FORCES a result from the unlimited possibilities that exist. (Affirmed by Quantum Enigma)
2. Each particular moment any choice is possible, but within the framework of THAT moment. The circumstances of that moment are determined by the past actions (Karma).
3. Probability of one action instead of another is a known ratio on the quantum level and karmic one. We can always guide to the highest potential. (Chart factors, ratio of probability)
4. The current choice / outcome is framed by what we are focusing on (RAS)
5. Affecting one thing with our attention also energetically affects something else that is entangled with it. Spooky action indeed!
6. Our limiting beliefs are controlling us from a very deep level (RAS / 3 Brains), understanding these brains / Gunas is key to unraveling the higher dimensions of “consciousness / presence”.
7. Astrology factors (natal chart, transits, dasas) is showing the aggregate of the past tendencies toward a probable outcome and the potential to focus on the highest possibility.
8. As astrologers we need to always remember that the highest / best outcome is always a possibility. First we have to know what that is and then we need to express it correctly.
