"When making some decisions, we need "outside the box" information, thoughts, and recommendations that are straightforward and unbiased. My options – hire a consultant, which risks time, money, and quality (the unknown) or consult with experts who I know and trust, leveraging the ELE, which is quick, inexpensive, and high-quality. The ability to call on experts directly and leverage ELE Leadership to make connections has produced value well above and beyond our annual investment in our membership." -- Head of Performance Management, United Airlines
