

postcards

SOUTH AFRICA

By Marie Frei

I took a 45-minute train ride from Cape Town to False Bay, where I visited Muizenberg Beach. The small waves here generally draw body boarders and novice surfers, but the coastline was nearly empty when I approached these colorful Victorian-style changing huts.