

Anatomy Of a face

Make-up artist Kayleen McAdams reveals how she gave actress LILY COLLINS her picture-perfect Oscars look

EYE-EYE! "I used Mac Paint Pot in Painterly, £14.50, to cover discolouration, then Mac Paint Pot in Groundwork, £14.50, to outline the eyes. For extra brightness, I applied Chanel Illusion D'Ombre in Fantasme, £22.50, on the inner corners and the centre of the lids to catch the light."

CHIC CHEEKS "For a pop of colour, I brushed Laura Mercier Second Skin Cheek Colour in Fresh Ginger, £20.50, gently over Lily's cheekbones. The light, tawny shade is perfect for pale skin like hers as it isn't too heavily pigmented and just adds to her youthful glow."

LUSCIOUS LIPS "To ensure Lily's lippie stayed on all night, I filled in her lips with Tom Ford Lip Colour in Casablanca, £36, then added Mac Liner in Whirl, £10.50, followed by another coat of lipstick. It gave her mouth a 'just-finished' look."

FRAME IT "Eyebrows frame a face, and although Lily has fantastic brows, I brushed through Anastasia Beverly Hills Brow Gel, £16.50, to keep them neat and add definition."

LIGHTEN UP "I used Kevyn Aucoin Celestial Powder, £34, on Lily because it's a great product to brighten the face. I dusted it over her cheekbones, brow bones and the bow of her lip to really draw attention to her features."

FLAWLESS FINISH "Wherever Lily needed it, I dabbed on Tarte Maracuja Creaseless Concealer. It's not available in the UK, but Une Intuitive Touch BB Cream Concealer in 102, £9.99, is quite similar."

GLOW, GIRL! "Lily loves Caudalie Beauty Elixir, £9.35, because it feels refreshing on her skin. It's a spray, but I mixed it with moisturiser and massaged it in for a healthy glow."

DEWY-LICIOUS "A really light base, such as Clé de Peau Refining Foundation, £79.95, is fantastic. It gives a lovely, dewy finish. I used a brush to apply it and the texture gave a wonderfully sheer look."
