Abbas Kiarostami: Doors Without Keys

PHOTO GALLERY

Doors Without Keys is an exhibition that has been decades in the making. Kiarostami has photographed doors across Iran, Morocco, France and Italy for the past twenty years, capturing their worn exteriors and the unseen mystery of what lies on the other side. The photographs are printed on life sized canvas for the exhibition, and arranged throughout the exhibition space in a labyrinth-like manner. Narrow alleyways are created using walls, and tunnel of sheer fabric obscure others. Windows with cutouts and different lighting
