

7 Unusual Watches You Wish Wholesale Stores in UK Sell

The selling of watches in wholesale in UK thrived successfully through time. Wrist watches were once viewed by the Americans a “silly *ss” fad, according to a 1916 New York Times article. It stated there that: “the bracelet watch had been looked upon by Americans as more or less of a joke.” To the point, vaudeville artists and moving-picture actors make fun of it. Today, it is the most important piece of jewelry or accessory worn both by men and women.

Our fondness of watches is evident when we visit a store of a wholesaler of watches in UK. It has hundreds of designs to choose from that you have to spend hours to find the perfect watch fits on your wrist and your personality. In part of the seller, this is a necessary marketing strategy to attract returning and potential buyers.

If their aim is to stand out among the thousands of stores selling watches by wholesale in UK, they must display not only the most elegant watch designs. Their buyers would be intrigued when they have silly or unusual designs like these:

Nuvati

Do you want an out of this world timepiece? Zanis& Co.'s Nuvati is the one for you. Watchshock reports the watch has a fragment of Martian and Lunar meteorite, about 2-3 mg each. We don't know if this is true. We tried to double check it but their website is down and all their items are sold out. Hmm?

Concrete Watch One

Source: dzmitryvsamal.fr

Even though we didn't find solid evidence about Nuvati, we were successful in verifying the existence of Dzmitry Samal's Concrete Watch One. Its housing is made of concrete, yup, as in the type of construction material where buildings are also made of.

Tokyoflash Japan

Source: tokyoflash.com

We had a hard time picking which is the weirdest watch manufactured by this company. Tokyoflash Japan mastered the art of watchmaking using LED or LCD displays as their canvas. The images above are samples of their designs.

OraUnica

What a face! No hour hands. No numbers. No minute hand. It is just a plain doodle. How do you read this thingamajig?! This wrist watch (yes, it could decode time) is invented by Nava Design. Good thing OraUnica is waterproof, though.

Nintendo Game Boy Watch

Nintendo Switch was already launched on March 3. But you can still buy the 1989 version in a form of a watch which is pictured above. This retro but hip-looking watch is still available on eBay and it is as pricey as Nintendo Switch.

Skull Watches

This hip hop jewelry will move you up to “cool” status in no time. It is kind of intimidating, too, especially to an innocent bystander who just want to ask you what time it is. Ironically, this is designed by a woman named Fiona Kruger.

Time Traveller

Travel bugs would love this timepiece because it solves the hassle of adjusting one's watch based on the time zone of the country you're in. It allows you to tell time in USA, England, France, Turkey, Saudi Arabia, Dubai, Pakistan, Kazakhstan, Thailand, China, Japan, Australia and New Zealand. Time Traveller is an invention of Mr. Jones Watches.

Now, it is time to hunt these watches in UK and buy it in wholesale.