THE NOVEMBER CONCERT SCENE EXPLODES WITH MUSICAL PERFORMANCES, INCLUDING CLASSIC ROCK LEGENDS AND A GRAMMY-WINNING ICON. BY LAUREN BROWN

Miami is becoming a music mecca: It's a must-stop destination on every tour—country to rap, either big or small. Taylor Swift brought her girl-power 1989 tour here in October, and in December The Weeknd wants you to party until you can't feel your face. Whether your tastes are eclectic or mainstream, whether you want the energy of a big arena or the intimacy of an acoustic set, here are five can't-miss shows coming to South Florida this month.

WHERE BROOKLYN AT? MATT AND KIM

A little piece of Brooklyn pride hits South Florida when indie darlings Matt and Kim come to town on November 7 in support of their latest album, New Glow. Known for putting on a show that won't let you sit still, Matt and Kim will have you bobbing all night long with their infectious energy. The duo is sure to perform staples such as "Daylight," "Cameras," and "Let's Go" while dancing on the drums, sending balloons into the crowd, and raising a parachute over the pit! Revolution Live, 100 SW Third Ave., Fort Lauderdale, 954-449-1025; ticketmaster.com

TRUE CLASSICS: AMERICA AND THREE DOG NIGHT

A pair of rock 'n' roll icons come to town November 12 for a night filled with nostalgia and some of the most famous rock tracks in music history. Celebrating their 45th year of making music, America will take you back with hits like "I Need You" and "Lonely People." Then, record-breaking chart toppers Three Dog Night (they had 21 consecutive Top 40 hits) will perform their pop/rock/country classics, including "Joy to the World" and "Mama Told Me (Not to Come)." Hard Rock Live, 1 Seminole Way, Hollywood, 866-502-7529; myhrl.com

A TOUCH OF CLASS: YO-YO MA

Yo-Yo Ma brings together some of his most talented friends for an unforgettable evening on November 15. "The Arsht Center is honored to welcome one of the world's most renowned cellists, Yo-Yo Ma, in concert as part of our Knight Masterworks Classical Music Series for the first time," says John Richard, president and CEO of the Arsht Center. "Mr. Ma's latest project—a cross-cultural collaboration exploring the music of Brazil, Russia, India, and China—mirrors the Center's own mission to present excellent music from all over the world and our city's own rich mix of cultures." Knight Concert Hall, Adrienne Arsht Center for the Performing Arts of Miami-Dade County, 1300 Biscayne Blvd., Miami, 305-949-6722; arshtcenter.org

GOING COUNTRY: ZAC BROWN BAND

It has been a memorable year for the beloved country group the Zac Brown Band. Their fourth studio album, Jekyll + Hyde, hit No. 1 on the Billboard 200 and spawned three monster hits, including the crossover smash "Heavy Is the Head" with Soundgarden lead singer (and Miami resident) Chris Cornell. Fans are crossing their fingers that Cornell will be at the band's November 15 show and join the Atlanta-based rockers on stage to perform it live. Perfect Vodka Amphitheatre, 601-7 Sansburys Way, West Palm Beach, 561-795-8883; livenation.com

COME OVER: BLEAU LIVE PRESENTS MELISSA ETHERIDGE

Hearing an intimate acoustic set by Melissa Etheridge anywhere is a once-in-a-lifetime experience. But enjoying that performance at the Fontainebleau is a bucket-list dream come true. "Hotel guests and visitors will sing along to an intimate acoustic performance by Melissa while enjoying an open bar in the same place where the likes of Frank Sinatra and Elvis Presley once performed," Josh Herman, director of marketing and public relations at Fontainebleau Miami Beach, says of the November 28 performance. Count on Etheridge to pull out some of her biggest hits, like "I'm the Only One" and "Come to My Window"; plus, the first 60 guests to purchase a Bleau Fan package get access to an exclusive meet-and-greet! Fontainebleau Miami Beach, 4441 Collins Ave., 305-538-2000; fontainebleau.com OD

YO-YO MA

The famed cellist's latest project is "a cross-cultural collaboration exploring the music of Brazil, Russia, India, and China"; see it live November 15 at the Adrienne Arsht Center for the Performing Arts.
