

Frank Sinatra (SECOND FROM RIGHT) with his minders arriving in Miami Beach to film The Lady in Cement in 1968.

On the set of The Lady in Cement. LEFT: The exhibit includes original paintings by Sinatra never shown in public before.

Blue Croon

retro

AN EXHIBITION MARKING FRANK SINATRA'S 100TH BIRTHDAY HITS MIAMI. BY LAUREN BROWN

To honor what would have been Frank Sinatra's centennial year, the HistoryMiami Museum is mounting "Sinatra: An American Icon." The traveling exhibition "offers visitors an opportunity to reflect on the life and career of Ol' Blue Eyes and explore the contributions that he made to American music and culture," says Michael Knoll, HistoryMiami's vice president of curatorial affairs. "Sinatra's family was intimately involved in organizing this exhibition, which includes family photographs, some of Sinatra's original artwork, and other unique artifacts." HistoryMiami is also curating a special Miami-related display that will feature memorabilia and historical footage from his films and concerts here. 101 W. Flagler St., Miami, 305-375-1492; historymiami.org OD

// GIVING SEASON //

A PERFECT 10

The Adrienne Arsht Center for the Performing Arts is marking its 10th season with a spectacular gala that's open to the community. The April 21 event, hosted by Bravo's Andy Cohen, will feature an eclectic array of dance, pop, gospel, classical, and jazz, including a performance by Rachel Platten. Says John Richard, Arsht Center president and CEO, "We hope our greatest fans are able to join us for this one-night-only performance created exclusively for the Arsht Center." 1300 Biscayne Blvd., Miami, 786-468-2020; arshcenter.org

Julio Iglesias performing at London's Royal Albert Hall.

TO ALL THE GIRLS...

Julio Iglesias, the reigning best-selling Latin artist of all time, is devoted to his adoring Miami fan base. And since Miami is a place that Iglesias calls home, of course he's making a stop at the AmericanAirlines Arena April 29 to perform selections from his latest (and all-Spanish) album, México. "When you play in a place that you know so well, and they know you, you have so many friends who come to see you," Iglesias previously told Ocean Drive, "and they are very critical, so you always have a little bit of nerves." 601 Biscayne Blvd., Miami; ticketmaster.com // laugh // BLACK COMEDY Funnyman Lewis Black storms into The Fillmore just weeks after Florida's primary.

Considering that what tends to rile up comedian Lewis Black the most is politics, you can certainly expect lots of ranting and raving about the upcoming presidential election when he brings his signature comedic style of yelling and screaming to Miami on The Emperor's New Clothes: The Naked Truth tour. If you're hoping to spar with the entertainer about what has you all hot and bothered on the campaign trail, join Black's fan club, known as the Frustrated Union of Cynical Kindreds Universal (or FUCKU), for a chance to get into a meet-and-greet at the April 8 show. 1700 Washington Ave., Miami Beach, 305-673-7300; fillmoremb.com

BEACHFRONT LUXURY IN THE HEART OF SOUTH BEACH.

NEW YORK CITY • MIAMI • LOS ANGELES

COMING SOON: MONTREAL

www.sixtyhotels.com