Sapporo Beer Museum

Hokkaido locals love their beer – so much so that they opened a beer museum in 1987, in a factory that was built during the Meiji period. Sign up for a guided tour, which ends at the beer garden where you can kick back with a glass of Sapporo Breweries' lager.

NEW ROUTE

DESTINATION: SAPPORO

Located on the island of Hokkaido, Sapporo attracts cold-weather enthusiasts who stop by in winter to catch the local snow festival before continuing onwards to neighboring ski slopes. Off-season, this city by Ishikari Bay has much to offer, whether it's fresh seafood or freshly brewed beer.

Dine: Kani Honke

Look out for the giant red crab sprawled above the entrance of this iconic crab restaurant by the Sapporo railway station. September is a good time for hairy crab in Hokkaido and Kani Honke's stock of the sweet and gooey delicacy never runs dry. kani-honke.jp/en

Stay: Jozankei Hotel

This hot spring hotel a 45-minute drive from Sapporo celebrates its 100th anniversary this year. Rooms come with onsen tubs, though you wouldn't want to stay in there all day as Jozankei is beautiful this time of the year when foliage in the nearby hills turns orange and red. jozankei.jp/en
