An injury ended Jeneil Williams's track and field career, but it didn't slow her pace.

The Jamaica native simply switched paths, sprinting toward photo shoots and runway shows instead of the Olympic Games. Now a successful model with a brand-packed portfolio, Jeneil thrives in the space where style and sport intertwine.

"I like combining fitness and fashion in my daily gym routine," says Jeneil. Which, by the way, is three days of cardio and three days of powerlifting each week. She's also obsessed with adult gymnastics.

"Fashion, for me, is expressing yourself through the way you dress," she says, sharing that she opts for bold colors and unexpected prints for her workouts. "If you're expressing yourself and you feel good about it, that feeling of confidence is like no other." And, we'd add, it's also extra helpful when you're strutting, sweating, lifting, or flipping!
