

Tin Barn Vineyards celebrates the hidden treasures that lie off the map. Our single vineyard artisan wines highlight the true character of Sonoma County.

Amid the foggy ridges of the Sonoma Coast, just off of Tin Barn Road, thrives a remote plot of Syrah vines where we first sourced fruit for our debut wine and derived inspiration for our company name. Since, we have made a fitting home in our own "tin barn"—a warehouse in rural Sonoma that houses our cellar and tasting room. Elegant wines, an intimate atmosphere, and passionate crew members make Tin Barn Vineyards an uncommon find.

MICHAEL LANCASTER, WINEMAKER

When Michael Lancaster fled the corporate world, he did so on two wheels, pedaling through some of the world's most fabled wine regions. Upon returning to his native Toronto a year later, he knew he'd never wear a suit and tie again. Michael headed to Northern California to complete coursework in the enology program at the University of California, Davis. He soon began working for Gloria Ferrer Champagne Caves, then moved to Quail Ridge Cellars, where he was eventually promoted to winemaker. In 2000, Michael formed a partnership with friends and launched Tin Barn Vineyards. Much like the "real" Tin Barn Road where he discovered the winery's first fruit source, the path has been steep—and the views, incomparable.

CORRUGATED CLUB

At the heart of Tin Barn Vineyards lies a community of friends and colleagues who work, play, dine and (naturally!) drink together. Like any family, ours continues to grow. Won't you join us? As a member of the Corrugated Club, you will connect with fellow oenophiles and earn discounts, too. Choose the level of involvement that best suits your wine buying style and enjoy the related benefits.
