

HERBAL MEDICINE

TCVM

TRADITIONAL CHINESE VETERINARY MEDICINE

Natural pet health care treatments to help restore balance.

Traditional Chinese Veterinary Medicine ~~or “TCVM”~~
~~combines Food Therapy, Herbal Medicine, Tui Na,~~ ~~Acupuncture & other modalities to provide~~ a “whole body” approach to healing.

Herbal Medicine

Herbal Medicine can be a safe & effective replacement for many pharmaceuticals that can provide gentle treatment of several chronic conditions with very few side effects.

For relief of:

- Anxiety
- Itching
- Seizures
- Respiratory Issues
- Stiffness
- Vomiting
- Diarrhea
- Chronic Pain

While we are well trained in conventional medicine, we understand that some disease processes lend themselves to treatment with other methods. We are proud to offer TCVM as an exciting option for our patients. While Chinese medicine has achieved worldwide recognition for centuries, it is now taking hold in the veterinary community and offering the same type of healing principles in conjunction with or in replacement of conventional western medicine.

ASK US FOR MORE INFORMATION

hopewell animal hospital

INTEGRATED VETERINARY CARE

A long, healthy, loving life for your pet starts here.

We at Hopewell Animal Hospital have undergone extensive training to interpret external signals and translate that information into a treatment plan using conventional medicine as well as TCVM treatments. We strongly believe that TCVM is not only for sickness but can enhance wellness at any stage of life. See our brochures or talk to your vet to see if TCVM is right for your pet.

hopewellanimalhospital.com

Food Therapy

By utilizing knowledge of food ingredients and their impact on health, we can tailor diets for individual animals—especially ones who do not easily medicate or do bodywork.

For relief of:

- Respiratory Problems
(Asthma, Chronic Cough)
- GI Disturbances
(Diarrhea, Constipation)
- Anxiety
- Lack of Stamina
- Inflammatory Conditions
- Skin Conditions
- Promoting Health in Cancer Patients

Acupuncture

Originating in China and used for thousands of years, stimulating acupuncture points via needles or a therapeutic laser can restore energy flow resulting in improved or cured health problems, pain management and recovery after surgery.

For relief of:

- Arthritis
- Joint Inflammation
- Hip Dysplasia
- Spinal Conditions
- Lick Granulomas (Lesions)
- Range of Motion Issues
- Trauma
- Neurologic Issues
- Asthma/Respiratory Issues
- Gastrointestinal Issues

Dr. Buchanan has advanced training in all aspects of Traditional Chinese Medicine, and all three current doctors at Hopewell Animal Hospital are certified acupuncturists.

A close-up photograph of a pug dog's face. The dog has a light brown coat with darker brown markings around its eyes and on its ears. Its mouth is open, showing its pink tongue and teeth. A person's hand, wearing a white lab coat, is visible in the background, gently touching the dog's head.

We provide a “Whole Body” approach to healing that includes Spinal Manipulation, Traditional Chinese Veterinary Medicine (“TCVM”) Acupuncture, Food Therapy, Herbal Medicine, Tui Na and other modalities.

Spinal Manipulation

Based upon the relationship of the spinal cord to the nervous system of the entire body that can also involve manipulation of the leg joints & skull, strengthening or stretching muscles, and post manipulation exercise. Most animals show no signs of pain or discomfort during therapy.

For relief of:

- Arthritis
- Hip Dysplasia
- Lameness
- Back Problems
- Some Traumatic Injuries

Dr. Scheck is certified by the International Veterinary Spinal Manipulation Association and has completed more than 90 hours of postgraduate training.