

MARSHA FERRALL

LOS ANGELES

As the sun emerges from behind the morning haze, retired flight attendant turned interior designer Marsha Ferrall shares stories of her childhood years in Los Feliz. She knows Los Angeles in a way few under the age of thirty can fathom, but she's a champion of its ever-evolving landscape. "The Los Angeles of the past five years has rekindled my love for the city," she says, and it's her hometown's "new surge of creative energy" that makes her eager to share it with the uninitiated.

LUNCH: FORAGE

Location: 3823 West Sunset Boulevard

Neighborhood: Silver Lake

“As you wait in line, savory assortments of lunch options are loosely presented on the counter to remind you that this is a fresh, homemade meal.”

INSPIRATION: ROBERT REYNOLDS
ART STUDIO AND GALLERY

Location: 408 South Spring Street

Neighborhood: Downtown

“An amazing artist and sculptor, his works might just be too diverse to describe. His talent spans mixed media paintings, neon art, installations, and his extremely architectural sculptures.”

PICK-ME-UP: BOTTEGA LOUIE

Location: 700 South Grand Avenue

Neighborhood: Downtown

“Although it’s been open since 2007, the pull of the portobello fries is strong and the décor never ceases to amaze.”

REFRESHMENTS:
UPSTAIRS AT THE ACE HOTEL

Location: 929 South Broadway

Neighborhood: Downtown

“A designer’s paradise, this hotel chain has built its reputation on a holistic approach to theme, filled with beautiful aesthetic textures. The L.A. edition does not disappoint.”
