

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:20 PM
To: alexander.brockwehl@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Alexander,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:14 PM
To: christian.kruger@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Christian,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:54 PM
To: 'colby_kuhns@cramer.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Colby,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:15 PM
To: casey.kustin@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Casey,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 4:11 PM
To: 'chadd_montgomery@sullivan.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Chadd,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:55 PM
To: 'charles.morrison@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Charles,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:21 PM
To: caroline_wadhams@SSCI.senate.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Caroline,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:52 PM
To: 'dan_burgess@blunt.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Dan,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:13 PM
To: devin.kolb@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Devin,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:59 PM
To: 'doug.nation@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Doug,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:20 PM
To: erin.doty@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Erin,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

I also attached the updated sheet of contacts.

Thanks,
Chase

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:16 PM
To: emily.mercado@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Emily,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:19 PM
To: eliza.ramirez@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Eliza,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:58 PM
To: 'gabriella.zach@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Gabriella,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:20 PM
To: hussain.altamimi@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Hussain,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 4:11 PM
To: 'jon_abdnor@thune.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Jon,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 4:10 PM
To: 'joe.bartlett@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Joe,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:53 PM
To: 'jon_broderick@cornyn.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Jon,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 4:01 PM
To: 'jmk@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear John,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:52 PM
To: 'jonathan.lowe@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Jonathan,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 4:00 PM
To: 'jamie.mccormick@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Jamie,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:54 PM
To: 'john_noonan@cotton.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear John,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:18 PM
To: louise.bentsen@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Louise,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 4:11 PM
To: 'liz_banicki@sullivan.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Liz,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 4:12 PM
To: 'lauren_canfield@tillis.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Lauren,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:54 PM
To: liam.forsythe@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Liam,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:55 PM
To: 'micah_chambers@cramer.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Micah,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:59 PM
To: 'matthew_hickey@murkowski.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Matthew,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:14 PM
To: marcos_ibarra@cortezmasto.senate.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Marcos,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 4:09 PM
To: 'mark_mckinnon@shelby.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Mark,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 4:08 PM
To: 'martin.reiser@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Marty,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 4:00 PM
To: 'megan_reiss@romney.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Megan,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:56 PM
To: 'matt_rimkunas@lgraham.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Matt,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:53 PM
To: 'molly_ryan@collins.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Molly,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:56 PM
To: 'nathan_flagg@kennedy.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Nathan,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:50 PM
To: 'patrick.flood@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Patrick,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 4:09 PM
To: 'piero.tozzi@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Piero,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:58 PM
To: 'robert_karem@mccconnell.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Robert,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:56 PM
To: 'ryan.propis@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Ryan,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:57 PM
To: 'sebastian.deluca@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Sebastian,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:15 PM
To: michelle.shevin-coetzee@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Michelle,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:19 PM
To: sayanna.molina@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Sayanna,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 4:12 PM
To: 'sarah.talmage@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Sarah,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:14 PM
To: travis.knight@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Travis,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 4:10 PM
To: 'twinkle.patel@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Twinkle,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:55 PM
To: victoria.rivas2@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Victoria,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:57 PM
To: 'will.dunham@mail.house.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Will,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Coleman, Norm B.
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 3:59 PM
To: 'wayne_jones@portman.senate.gov'
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Wayne,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

All my best,

Norm

Senator Norm Coleman

Senior Counsel

Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004

Tel: +1 202 637 5440

Cell: +1 651 894 3901

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: norm.coleman@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:20 PM
To: Zach_Lewis@warner.senate.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Zach,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

Wolteji, Azeb

From: Dresser, Sammie on behalf of Zapien, Ivan
Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2021 2:19 PM
To: zoe.oreck@mail.house.gov
Subject: USUN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on Yemen

Dear Zoe,

On behalf of the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, I would like to call your attention to important remarks made on August 23 by US Ambassador to the United Nations Linda Thomas-Greenfield at a UN Security Council Briefing on Yemen. The remarks may be viewed and read in their entirety here.

Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield reviewed the complexity of the situation on the ground in Yemen, but clearly cast the blame on the party most responsible for obstructing efforts by the United States, the United Nations, the Saudi-led Coalition, and other stakeholders to reach a peaceful solution: the Houthis, backed by Iran.

On the Houthis' offensive in Marib, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Houthi offensive on Marib has stalled, but it has not become any less brutal. June was the deadliest month for civilians in nearly two years. This offensive is costly. We have all seen the images of Houthi missile strikes that killed women and children. We need, urgently, a nation-wide ceasefire, so that other areas of Yemen don't endure unnecessary violence and suffering."

On the Houthis' refusal to come to the negotiating table in good faith, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "The Saudi-led coalition and Republic of Yemen Government have shown openness to a ceasefire. But the Houthis seem determined to continue their military campaign. This is a moment to change their minds."

On the Houthis' recruitment of children to fight in the conflict, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We also cannot lose sight of another heartbreaking dimension of this conflict: the abuses the Houthis continue to inflict on children. And I thank Henrietta Fore for raising these concerns. The United States is alarmed by the latest reports of the Houthis' recruitment of thousands of children into military training and indoctrination camps. This threatens the country's long-term stability. But more important, it is just plain wrong and gut-wrenching. Children are not warriors. This cannot continue as you heard from UNICEF. We must place children first and we must keep them safe allowing them to pursue their education."

On the Houthis' blocking a maritime salvage operation in order to prevent oil leaks from the FSO Safer, which has been moored off Yemen's Red Sea coast, Ambassador Thomas-Greenfield noted:

- "We continue to have grave concerns over the state of the Safer tanker, as you have heard from other members today. With their delays and unreasonable demands, the Houthis have thus far squandered the opportunity the UN has afforded them to avoid an environmental and economic calamity."

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia announced an initiative in late March to reach a nationwide ceasefire in Yemen and the Kingdom continues to support efforts to reach a comprehensive political resolution in Yemen. Unfortunately, the Houthis have refused to come to the negotiating table in good faith.

It is critically important that Members of Congress publicly condemn the Houthis for prolonging the needless suffering of the Yemeni people.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Ivan Zapien

Partner

Practice Area Leader – Government Relations & Public Affairs

See my bio (Ivan Zapien)

—
Hogan Lovells US LLP

Columbia Square

555 Thirteenth Street, NW

Washington, DC 20004-1109

Tel: +1 202 637 5600

Direct: +1 202 637 5613

Fax: +1 202 637 5910

Email: ivan.zapien@hoganlovells.com

www.hoganlovells.com

—

This material is distributed by Hogan Lovells US LLP on behalf of the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia, Washington, D.C. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.