Korea: Itineraries Beyond Seoul

Seoul is a popular Asian destination for shopping, but a 10-day itinerary provides a good opportunity for Korea's 3 million annual visitors to discover the country's diversity beyond Seoul. A circular itinerary with express train and domestic air tickets links Sokcho, Pusan and Cheju City for a 10-day exploration of Korea.

The East Coast mountains, about a 4-5 hour bus or train trip from Seoul, are a popular destination for scenery and hiking. Soraksan and Odaesan are two of Korea's highest mountain peaks, and the mountain environment is preserved in a national park system.

Mt. Sorak's hiking trails are clearly marked, and hiking trails provide access to legendary sites such as Kwongumsong Castle, Hundulbawi Rock and Kyejoam Hermitage. The East Coast is a colorful destination in the Fall because of the changing of leaves in mid-autumn.

Korea: Itineraries Beyond Seoul

Deluxe and first class hotel accommodations are available in Sokcho and Chunchon, major East Coast cities.

Pusan's history is linked with its status as Korea's major port. There are several monuments commemorating Admiral Yi and his fleet of iron-covered "turtle" boats, which defeated Japanese invaders along the southeast coast in the 18th century.

Pusan is an ideal home base for daily excursions to historic Kyongju or a hydrofoil tour of the Hallyo Waterway. Pomosa Temple is a short drive from downtown Pusan.

Pusan's deluxe and first class "hotel row" includes the Hyatt Regency at Haeinsa Beach.

Cheju Island is the semi-tropical leg of the 10-day itinerary, and it is just a 50-minute flight from Pusan or Seoul. Cheju Island is a popular honeymoon destination. Couples can be seen posing at Chongbang Waterfall, Chonje (Fairy) Pond, Sunrise Crater and Tamna Moksogwon (a natural wood and rock sculpture park).

Cheju, Korea's largest island, is crisscrossed by a highway network, so it is easy to visit the legendary sites on every coast. Cheju City and its international airport are on the north coast. Youngduam, resembling the profile of a dragon head, is a prominent rock formation near Cheju City.

Sogwipo and Chungmun Beach are major destinations with resort accommodations on the island's southern coast. Cheju Island is famous for its wind, rocks and women. Island women are "Haenyo", (divers) who harvest shellfish from the ocean, and they can be seen at Namwon on the southern coast.

The diversity of Korea can be discovered through a variety of itineraries beyond Seoul. Korea National Tourism Corporation provides detailed brochures to assist travelers in planning indepth itineraries. Korea: Kangwhado Island & Ginseng

Seoul, the capital of Korea, is a city of 10 million residents with all the trappings of modern civilization: high-rise office buildings, diversified shopping districts, an efficient subway system and rush hour traffic, ever popular discos and traditional dance theaters.

A trip to Kangwhado Island, just 25 miles west of Seoul where the Han River meets the Yellow Sea, is a step from modern civilization into ancient times.

Kangwhado Island is the legendary birthplace of the Korean nation in 2333 B.C. National Foundation Day is celebrated here on October 3 every year. Tangun is the legendary founder of Korea and he used an altar in the foundation rites. Remains of the altar can be seen today on the slopes of Mt. Manisan on Kangwhado.

Kangwhado is also known as Korea's "ginseng island" because of its concentration of ginseng fields. Ginseng is Korea's national herb and it has a reputation for aiding good health, sexual potency and longevity.

Ginseng root resembles a human body. The head grows above ground and the main trunk, with its arms and legs, grows underground for six years.

Good quality ginseng is characterized by a large head and a straight body. Big roots have more flavor than smaller sizes. White ginseng is dried without the skin and red ginseng is steamed with the skin. Red ginseng is a delicacy and its production is regulated by the government to insure quality. There are many ginseng shops in Seoul and in Korean communities in the United States. In Seoul, ginseng shops are clustered in the Kyongdong Market, about 1-2 miles from the East Gate Market.

Ginseng can be purchased fresh or dried and in capsule, granule or liquid form. Here is a sampling of ginseng products and Seoul's department store prices:

- 10 ounces (8 large roots, 6 years old) 50,000 won (about $70)
- 10 ounces (50 small roots, 4 years old) 21,000 won (about $30)
- white ginseng tea (30 bags) 3,600 won (about $5)
- red ginseng tea (30 bags) 3,900 won (about $5.50).

Ginseng's role in Korean cuisine and medicine dates back to the days of Tangun. Korea's history and culture come alive by visiting historic sites in and beyond Seoul. Detailed travel information is available from Korea National Tourism Corporation, 3435 Wilshire Blvd., Ste. 350, Los Angeles, CA 90010.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Korea: Panmunjom & Kyongju

Panmunjom, negotiation site between the two governments of Korea, is a meaningful destination for travelers interested in modern history and world peace. Kyongju, a tranquil valley in the southeast corner of the peninsula, is a contrasting destination which highlights Korea's ancient history and rich culture.

Panmunjom, originally an obscure farming community, was the site for the Korean War armistice in July 1953. Today, Panmunjom is a complex of government buildings, a conference room, peace park and national monuments.

The Korea Travel Bureau schedules full-day excursions to Panmunjom. The tour bus departs downtown Seoul at 9 am Monday through Friday, and the group returns to Seoul around 4 pm. The price is 26,000 won (about $36), including lunch. Reservations are required by the Korea Travel Bureau (FAX-001-822-585-1187).

The tour begins with the Unification Highway to Panmunjom. The bus passes rice fields and anti-tank barriers, and there are stops at several monuments and war memorials honoring the 16 allied countries that participated in the Korean War.

The tour includes a briefing and slide presentation by a U.S. Army officer, and the group visits the conference room, Freedom Pagoda and lookout areas.

The Third Tunnel of Aggression, engineered by North Koreans, extends 2-1/2 miles south of the Demilitarized Zone. Visitors can inspect the tunnel on the return trip to Seoul.

An overnight excursion to Kyongju, about a 4-hour train ride southeast of Seoul, enables travelers to see the grandeur of the Shilla Dynasty, which originally united Korea in the 7th century A.D.

The historic sites are scattered throughout the valley, and travelers can visit the major sites via taxi or local tour buses. Sokkuram Grotto at the peak of Mt. Tohamsan is an impressive site with its seated granite Buddha and stone Taekwando guards.

Pulguksa Temple, at the base of the mountain, is an interesting introduction to Buddhism and traditional architecture. The temple's bright color combinations are uniquely Korean, and dragon images adorn the roofs and ceilings.

Other historic sites are Tumuli Park and the Flying Horse Tomb, Chomsongdae Observatory, Anapchi Pond and Poksokchong Bower. Admission ranges from 100 won (about 15 cents) to 1,700 won (about $2.50) at Pulguksa Temple.

Deluxe accommodations are available at Bomun Lake Resort. The Kyongju Chosun Hotel and the Kyongju Concord offer Western-style rooms in the $100 range.

Korea is a popular destination for history and scenery. Detailed brochures are available from Korea National Tourism Corporation, 3435 Wilshire Blvd., Ste. 350, Los Angeles, CA 90010.

Korea: Independence Hall at Chonan

There are many important sites documenting Korea's 5,000 years of culture, but the Independence Hall at Chonan is a museum focusing on Korea's historic struggles for independence, especially from 1910 to 1945.

"The museum's purpose is recording Korea's quest for freedom as a reminder to future generations," Duk-So Hur, Director of Korea National Tourism Corporation in Los Angeles, said.

The museum is organized in a series of exhibition halls and each hall focuses on the quest for freedom from succeeding generations of foreign invaders. Korea has faced invasions by Mongols (13th century); Manchu Chinese (17th century); and Japanese (in the 16th and 20th centuries).

The first hall provides the foundation for an educational day at the museum. The exhibit focuses on the settlement of the peninsula and the early development of Korea as a nation.

The museum documents Korea's "Hermit Kingdom" era, a period of isolationism from the 17th to 19th centuries. The isolationist policies set the stage for the end of the Choson Dynasty in 1910, Hur explained.

One hall documents the nationwide, peaceful demonstration for independence on March 1, 1919. The Independence Movement exhibit includes a display of European and U.S. newspapers which supported the movement via editorial columns. Independence from the colonial government set up by Japan was elusive in 1919, but the date is still commemorated as a national holiday.

One hall focuses on the hardships of the 1910-1945 colonial period, such as censorship of the mass media and efforts to erase the indigenous Korean culture and language.

The museum captures the Independence Movement in sculpture and paintings. One sculpture captures the spirit of the people. The sculpture includes symbols for peace -- a dove and flowers. The pride of the movement is symbolized by the traditional outfit -- the hanbok -- and the national flag.

The museum, about a three-hour drive south of Seoul, is a popular day excursion for foreign visitors, history groups and school children. Admission is 1,000 won, under $1.50. The museum is open daily. Further information is available from Korea National Tourism Corporation, 3435 Wilshire Blvd., Ste. 350, Los Angeles, CA 90010.
