INTRODUCTION

Out here, we don't stay the course.
We set it.

Bermuda Knows Sports & Innovation

We were founded in 1609 by the surviving sailors of the shipwrecked Sea Venture (said to be the inspiration for William Shakespeare's The Tempest) and sailing is how we have thrived. For such a small island, Bermuda has consistently punched above her weight in the sporting world.

- Bermudians invented the Bermuda rig in the 17th Century, and it is still used in 95 percent of all sailing yachts today. In 2017, Bermuda was home to the pinnacle event in world sailing, the 35th America's Cup.
- Bermudian Mary Ewing Outerbridge introduced the game of tennis to the United States in 1874, setting up the U.S.'s first tennis court on Staten Island in New York. Bermuda has since played host to several United States Tennis Association tournaments.
- Flora Duffy is a Bermuda-born-and-raised, four-time world champion triathlete. Bermuda is part of the ITU family, hosting World Series events in 2018, 2019 and 2020 as well as the Grand Final in 2021.

Bermuda is an extraordinary geographic anomaly some 650 miles from the closest continent (North America), yet just a 90-minute nonstop flight from New York City.

Blessed by a subtropical climate thanks to the Gulf Stream, this 21-square-mile island is home to a population of 65,000 residents and is recognised as a safe, clean first-world country known for its legendary hospitality.

Bermuda has a long list of experience as a host destination past, present and future:

Testimonials

I've been coming to Bermuda since 1989 and have gotten to know the island and the Bermuda spirit well. Understanding how Bermudians often punch above their weight and how they operate, we had no doubt they would be great partners in delivering an amazing event

– from infrastructure to hospitality. It's a beautiful island, a brilliant sailing venue and it gave us the platform to stage a truly magnificent America's Cup.

Sir Russell Coutts | CEO, America's Cup Event Authority

Bermuda is a truly amazing place rich with culture and heritage. Team USA enjoyed our time on the island and I wholeheartedly endorse Bermuda.

I am looking forward to working with the Bermuda Tourism Authority to bring additional opportunities to the country.

Dr. Jeff Porter | Chair, USA Track & Field Athletes Advisory Committee

This was the first time we've been to Bermuda and we were absolutely floored. The destination served up a relaxing atmosphere for our training camp. The people are so nice, gracious and easygoing.

The National Sports Centre surpassed our expectations

– it's a high-quality facility that I would definitely recommend to other groups.

Jack Leavitt | Head Coach, Swimming & Diving, Georgetown University

A Satisfying Food Culture

A BLENDED HERITAGE AND ACCESS TO PRIME SEAFOOD DEFINE BERMUDA'S CULINARY TRADITIONS.

The flavours of Bermuda blend culinary influences, ingredients and techniques from the British, Portuguese, Caribbean and West African. The result of this unique cultural mix is Bermudian cuisine. Fish is a staple – especially wahoo and rockfish, but also mahi mahi, yellowfin tuna and snapper. Experience a “catch and cook,” where you go fishing with locals, clean and cook your catch, and then dive into a delicious, satisfying feast. On land, Bermuda's food is equally fresh: gardens, markets and farms supply produce and all-natural meat and poultry. Traditional dishes include the codfish breakfast (boiled cod, potatoes and onions served with sliced banana, hard-boiled egg and avocado), fish chowder, fish sandwiches, spiny lobster and rum cake. Our renowned chefs are masters at putting inventive twists on the classics. Sample their work while enjoying our famous cocktails: the Dark 'n Stormy® and Rum Swizzle. Be sure to check out food events, including Restaurant Weeks in January/February and the City Food Festival twice annually.

The Unfinished Church

Three Sides of Bermuda

We invite you to explore Bermuda and its surrounding waters. To get a lay of the land, start with the island's three main regions.

Out here, a small population (65,000 residents) makes for a strong neighbourhood identity. Each community brings with it a unique culture all its own, and a local character to match. Whether it's the history-rich East End, still stamped by its colonial past; the sophisticated and global capital City of Hamilton at the centre; or popular sightseeing hub and maritime vestige, the West End, Bermuda is easy to get to, but a world away.

Let the locals be your guide.

East End

Site of the island's former capital and a UNESCO World Heritage Site, the East End is rich with British colonial history and culture as well as natural attractions like Blue Hole Park and Crystal Caves. Here, we take a closer look at St. David's, one of two main islands in the East End that make up St. George's Parish.

Exploring with Ronnie Chameau // Artist and Deputy President of Carter House

When local artist Ronnie Chameau began making banana-leaf dolls in 1986, there was nothing like them in Bermuda. Based on similar dolls she'd seen made with tobacco leaves in the United States, her handcrafted creations are one-of-a-kind works of art she makes with locally sourced palmetto trees, coconut palm and banana leaves.

East End's Allure: "I'm a true St. David's Islander," says Chameau of the East End enclave she originally hails from. "When I

"You feel as if you're back in the 1600s," says Chameau. "It's just like stepping back in time."

On Creating Island-Inspired Art: "You won't find these dolls anywhere else in the world," says Chameau, whose much sought-after figurines you'll find in shops and museums island-wide. In fact, her dolls are so well-liked that she began making banana-leaf angels, a popular item around the holidays. "People love angels," says Chameau. "They sell like hotcakes."

got married in 1965 my husband brought me to live in Pembroke and I thought I had come to a foreign country!"

That doesn't mean she's abandoned her roots. Most days you can find her volunteering at Carter House, a living history museum dedicated to the lives, work and people of St. David's.

Self-Sufficient in St. David's: "Our people have always been very resourceful," says Chameau of St. David's Islanders, who've worked as blacksmiths, carpenters or fishermen out of necessity.

Take It From a Local: To see what an early Bermuda home once looked like, don't miss the Settler's Cabben, which is on the grounds of Carter House Museum in St. David's. Built with the same techniques and tools used by British settlers in 1612, the primitive dwelling is an eye-opening look into Bermuda's earliest days. "You feel as if you're back in the 1600s," she says. "It's just like stepping back in time."

Central

Central Bermuda is home to the City of Hamilton, a bustling harbour town with dozens of restaurants, cafés, bars and pastel-coloured boutiques. Explore the area's cosmopolitan culture as well as open-air attractions like the Botanical Gardens and Elbow Beach. A local surfboard maker shows you how.

Exploring with Cullen O'Hara // Surfer and owner of Isolated Surfboards

Surfer Cullen O'Hara has been putting the island on the global surfing map, one handcrafted board at a time. Sold at his City of Hamilton shop, which also features the island's only skateboard half pipe, his boards are tailored for Bermuda waves.

Born Out of Necessity: After studying at University of California at Santa Cruz, O'Hara returned to Bermuda with boards he bought on the west coast. They broke on the island's rocky shorelines. "Surfing here is totally different than surfing in California," says the 37-year-old O'Hara, who works in his studio when he's not paddling out. "Since I was good enough at ding repair and fibreglassing, I figured I'd try shaping my own designs instead of bringing in new boards." The idea paid off, and in 2009 Isolated Surfboards was born.

On Living Central: "It's better in the middle," says O'Hara, who lives in Paget. He caught his first big wave in nearby Hungry Bay, where an offshore bank drops swiftly into the ocean. "That allows for swell to be less hindered by the bottom, which results in bigger waves," he says. "It basically manifests more swell to come to the middle of the island, so I'm pretty stoked to still be living in the neighbourhood."

Board Sports Are King: In addition to handmade surfboards and locally designed T-shirts, O'Hara's Reid Street shop sells custom skateboard decks that riders can test on his in-store half pipe. "Bermuda never had proper facility to harness this type of activity," says O'Hara. "Skating is a kind of creative athleticism that I feel really speaks to a portion of our population."

Take It from a Local: O'Hara's most coveted island surf spots are a well-kept secret, but if you'd like to hang ten during your trip, he recommends the sandy beach break at Horseshoe Bay. "At high tide it's a great place to catch a few waves," he says. "There are few obstacles to worry about so it's a really safe spot to jump in the water."

West End

A hub for sightseeing, shopping and entertainment, the historic Royal Naval Dockyard is one of Bermuda's most popular destinations. Home to the National Museum of Bermuda, the West End is also where you'll find many of the island's renowned South Shore highlights, including Horseshoe Bay, Warwick Long Bay and Gibbs Hill Lighthouse.

Exploring with Dr. Clarence Maxwell // Professor of History

Dr. Clarence Maxwell, former Director of Historical Research at Bermuda's National Museum, explains the island's unique connections to the African Diaspora – a worldwide collection of peoples who descended from sub-Saharan Africa as a result of the Transatlantic slave trade.

A Deeply-Rooted History: About 60 percent of Bermudians have African ancestry; many are descendants of enslaved people from the West Indies and Africa brought to Bermuda in the 17th century. Slavery was eventually abolished in 1834, and you can examine its lasting impact at historic landmarks across the island – a rich collection of sites known as the African Diaspora Heritage Trail that Dr. Maxwell helped curate.

"You unexpectedly see elements that are both iconic and historically important."

On the Alluring West End: "You unexpectedly see elements that are both iconic and historically important," he says of the West End, where his family has a home. "In Dockyard you'll find countless architectural treasures – it's an altogether culturally rich destination to explore."

Take It from a Local: Maxwell's favourite exhibit at the National Museum? The Queen's Exhibition Hall, with its rare New World artifacts found in Bermuda's many sunken shipwrecks. "Even the building that it's housed in is a genuine piece of history," says Dr. Maxwell of the 1850 stone Ordnance Building, which once was used to store nearly 5,000 kegs of gunpowder. "There's a real sense of pride to have worked in one of the island's most historic places."

Getting Around

Whether by bus, bike, ferry or taxi, Bermuda is safe and easy to explore. Public transport is a great way to get a taste of Bermuda's alluring nature. Or, rent a bike or two-seater and zip around to hidden gems.

Four scenic ferry routes connect major island hubs.

The blue and green routes head west; the pink stops in central Paget and Warwick; the orange operates in summer and connects Dockyard to the Town of St. George. All depart from the Ferry Terminal on Front Street in the City of Hamilton. Cash is not accepted, so have your transportation pass, ticket or token ready.

Taxis provide transportation and sightseeing by the hour.

Many taxi drivers are also excellent tour guides, eager to share the stories behind Bermuda's landmarks for $50 – $70 USD per hour. Find them outside larger hotels, near the airport or on busy streets.

Pink buses are plentiful and frequent.

Colour-coded stops make it easy – pink to town (Hamilton); blue to head out (east or west). Tickets, tokens or transportation passes are available at bus or ferry terminals, or board with exact change.

Explore like a local on a scooter or bicycle.

We drive on the left and we drive slowly – the official speed limit is 21 miles per hour. Bikes can be rented from Elbow Beach Cycles, Eve's Cycle Livery, Oleander Cycles and Smatt's Cycle Livery.

Rent electric cars to explore at your leisure.

These compact two-seaters, available from Current Vehicles, Oleander Cycles, Localmotion and Rugged Rentals, can travel up to 70 miles on a single charge.

When the dinner bell rings, reserve a table on the second-floor balcony of Pearl, a Front Street sushi lounge featuring inventive preparations of fresh local fish. Be sure to check the specials, as the chefs are known for daily creations made with whatever's been biting.

For the Golfer

Step Outside

Home to pristine pink-sand beaches and stunning green nature preserves, Bermuda boasts wide-open spaces. This fall, explore the island's secluded corners and hidden gems; places where the balmy Bermuda breeze is yours and yours alone.

Here are a few of our favourites.

Bailey's Bay Footbridge

Cooper's Island

Fort Scaur

Cruise to Palm Island

Ely's Harbour, Sandys

Managed by the Bermuda National Trust, this one-acre island is accessible only by boat, so rent one from BDA Watersports at Somerset Bridge and get motoring. Once you pass through picturesque Ely's Harbour, turn right through the mooring field to find this secluded speck of sand where nary another visitor can be found.

Explore Cooper's Island Nature Reserve

St. David's, St. George's

Home to a U.S. military base until 1995, this 12-acre nature reserve on Bermuda's far-east end is now a pristine national park perfect for quiet woodland walks. It's also where you'll find a series of sparkling pink-sand beaches, like Turtle Bay, where hawksbills are known to pop their heads through the ocean surface.

Tour the Railway Trail

Bailey's Bay, Hamilton Parish

Consisting of nine noncontiguous sections across the island, this 18-mile pedestrian and bicycle path was the home of a working railway from 1931 to 1948. Featuring a 740-foot-long overwater footbridge that spans turquoise Bailey's Bay, this stretch near Coney Island in Hamilton Parish is picture-perfect and tailor-made for long, peaceful walks.

Get Lost in Fort Scaur

Middle Road, Sandys

Built in the 1860s to defend the Royal Naval Dockyard against a possible attack, this hilltop fortress sports cannons, gun emplacements and a cleverly designed defensive moat that now forms part of a meandering 22-acre garden. Wander the lush trails dotted with coconut palms and flowering palmettos or admire the endless ocean view from the grassy knoll.

Discover Portuguese Rock

Spittal Pond, Smith's

Bermuda might've been settled in 1612, but this historic rock, which is found atop a hill in the island's largest nature reserve, bears inscriptions of Portuguese sailors who shipwrecked here in 1543. They were believed to have climbed up the surf-struck cliffs to safety. To find it, you'll have to wander the reserve's 64 acres.

Think Globally Shop Locally

Thanks to local entrepreneur Danielle Paynter, whose online retail platform The NAB App has amplified the visibility of Bermuda's Black-owned businesses, dozens of island shops are getting the attention they deserve. Pop into one of these five stores today to support the cause.

Danielle Paynter, founder of The NAB App

It all started with a vacuum. When 39-year-old Danielle Paynter wanted to buy herself a Dyson, she had no clue where to find one on the island. "I just found the whole process so frustrating," says Paynter, who spent an entire weekend searching for her desired model. "I thought there had to be an easier way for people to shop locally for specific brands," she says, "but I didn't think I could create one because I didn't have any tech experience."

What she did have was an extensive background in business development, so after attending a local entrepreneurial workshop, Paynter took a leap and developed The NAB App, an online platform that connects consumers with local retailers that sell the specific brands they're searching for. An acronym for Need And Buy, the site has been a huge hit since launching in September 2019 – and although it's helped many Bermuda retailers sell their wares, Paynter has specifically amplified Black-owned businesses, of which there are many on the island.

"I want all retailers to succeed regardless of ownership," says Paynter, "but I think for Black-owned businesses, the network and support has not been built in as much as it has for other racial communities – so spending on Black-owned businesses, hiring Black service providers and being more conscious about supporting businesses that have diverse hiring practices is more important than ever."

Urban Cottage

Alicia Tucker, owner of Tuck Shop

Kamillah Cannonier, owner of Sweet SAAK Bakery

1 Pedego Electric Bikes Penno's Wharf, St. George's

Featuring a fleet of electric bicycles that generate power with a twist-and-go throttle on the handlebar or by activating a pedal-assist mode that helps to propel your legs forward, Pedego Electric Bikes are the most effortless way to cruise around the island. "They've got options for the entire family," says Paynter, "and they're also very reasonably priced."

2 The Griot Parliament Street, City of Hamilton

"This is an incredible store for anyone who wants to learn more about Black history or the Black experience," says Paynter, who recently purchased a book for her daughter there called Not Quite Snow White. It's about an African-American girl who dreams of one day being a princess. The store also features woven African baskets, oils, incense and candles.

3 The Tuck Shop Middle Road, Southampton

Tucked away in a quiet residential neighbourhood called Heron Bay, this eclectic gift shop sells wooden toys, natural apothecary items, unique ladies' clothing and fresh-baked treats like cookies, cakes and scones. "The owner seeks out small brands that all focus on craftsmanship," she says. "It's a really well-curated store that I absolutely love."

4 Sweet SAAK Bakery York Street, St. George's

"Every time I go to St. George's I just have to go to this bakery, whether I want a sweet or not," says Paynter. And she's not the only one. Locals line up at this East End bakery, which is named for the siblings who run it (Shre, Angelo, Ankoma and Kamillah), for its famous gooey cinnamon buns and handmade fudge that sells out daily.

5 Urban Cottage Front Street, City of Hamilton

"This shop is an incredible oasis," says Paynter of this Front Street boutique. "It's just got all of these really cool brands and curiosities that can keep you in there for hours." In addition to ladies' apparel, keep an eye out for tea towels, pillows and textiles from Bermudian company NettleInk, which features vintage island images in all of its designs.

Island Eats, Outdoor Seats

Bermuda's alfresco restaurants dish up food, drink and island vistas.

Bermuda's fall breezes beckon visitors to the outdoors all day long – including at mealtime. Explore the island's top outdoor dining spots.

HARBOURFRONT

The very best tables here are outside on the dock, where boats are moored on a sleepy Hamilton Harbour bay. Breezy and completely open-air, it's where you can even spot schools of fish swimming right next to your table.

What You're Eating

Known for its signature sushi rolls – like the togarachi with spicy tuna, tobiko, scallions and tempura bits – this is where you can also score steakhouse classics, a grilled local catch or a 42-ounce T-bone porterhouse for three served rare on a sizzling stone.

What You're Drinking

If you've come for the sushi, then order a bottle of cold sake. The Pure Dawn Shimizu-No-Mai has hints of orange peel and Fuji apple with a creamy, soft finish.

BLU

Perched on a hilltop in Warwick Parish overlooking the islets and cays that dot Granaway Deep, this upscale restaurant has a fierce local following, which is why reservations are highly recommended. Grab a table on its sprawling outdoor patio, one of the very best spots in Bermuda to watch the sun slowly dip into the horizon.

What You're Eating

The menu here is an eclectic mix of inventive sushi rolls, Asian-fusion dishes, thin-crust pizza, Italian pastas, local seafood and hearty steaks. If all those choices have your head spinning, rest assured it's all served with aplomb. No wonder locals love it here.

What You're Drinking

Start your meal with a Tito's martini with blue cheese-stuffed olives before moving onto the wine list. In fact, it's one of Bermuda's longest, so ask the sommelier for a recommendation.

PINK BEACH CLUB

Like its name suggests, this sexy and sleek oceanfront spot overlooks the private pink-sand beach of The Loren, a chic boutique hotel on the East End. With sweeping views of the turquoise ocean and gentle breezes through its airy dining room, the restaurant serves breakfast, lunch and dinner and keeps especially busy during Sunday brunch.

What You're Eating

With locally sourced ingredients, the lineup here includes farm-to-table favourites and fresh fish caught the same day. At lunch, its tuna poke bowl with yuzu soy is a standout. For dinner, try the sourdough-crust rockfish served with sea beans and lemon beurre blanc.

What You're Drinking

A pink-sand view demands a wine with an equally rosy hue, so order a bottle of the Rivasosé brut, a sparkling French rosé with notes of strawberry and raspberry.

BELLA VISTA

Even if you didn't just play a round at Port Royal Golf Course, this is an excellent place for a meal with a view. This Italian restaurant overlooks the 18th hole and the turquoise Atlantic in the distance. Grab a seat outside and enjoy the blissful panorama that inspired its name, which means "beautiful view" in Italian.

What You're Eating

Northern Italian Chef Livio Ferigo crafts traditional pastas like fettucine alfredo, seafood tagliolini and homemade pappardelle with beef cheeks ragout, plus savoury entrées like chicken parmesan and Barolo braised lamb chump.

What You're Drinking

A classic Italian meal deserves classic Italian wines, so cue up a glass of Lunetta prosecco before ordering the Banfi Brunello di Montalcino, a medium-bodied red from Sangiovese.

CROWN & ANCHOR

Thanks to a new outdoor extension that was added to this lobby restaurant at the Hamilton Princess in March, the Crown & Anchor now has a breezy alfresco patio with dozens of tables facing an open courtyard and the Princess Marina in the distance. Fun fact: It's named for the popular dice game once brought to Bermuda by members of the Royal Navy.

What You're Eating

Dig into creative spins on pub grub favourites, like Jamaican jerk chicken wings, crispy buttermilk cauliflower and crunchy avocado wedges before trying the shepherd's pie, beer-battered fish and chips or traditional Indian curries served with roti and papadums.

What You're Drinking

Drink like a Royal Naval officer by ordering the Royal Hamilton Yacht Club, a spin on a classic Trader Vic's cocktail with Gosling's Black Seal Rum, Bermuda Cold liqueur, Grand Marnier and fresh lime juice.

Pack a Picnic!

Forget the table and chairs. Design your own perfect Bermuda moment with these island-sourced essentials.

Tucker's Farm Goat Cheese

Sold at grocery stores including Supermart in the City of Hamilton, this creamy goat cheese is handmade in small batches on a family-owned farm in Paget.

Passion Fields Honey

To buy this sweet, local honey made by 31-year-old beekeeper Spencer Fields, look for his white van on the side of Trimmingham Road just outside of Hamilton.

Bermy Fresh Hummus

Sold in a variety of whimsical flavours, including spicy Buffalo Soldier or the Taj, with hints of curry, this grab-and-go hummus can be found at Lindo's in Devonshire and Warwick.

Raft Up Rosé

Every good picnic deserves a good wine, so head to Two Rock Wines in Paget for a bottle of this Provençal-style rosé that gets its inspiration from Bermuda's summertime flotillas.

Remember - We Drive on the Left! Pedestrian crossings are indicated by black and white zebra stripes on the road. A single yellow line denotes 'no parking'. Speed limit throughout the island is 35 kph (20 mph). Do not speed and do not keep looking behind you.

Traffic Lights in the City of Hamilton. At most intersections there are traffic lights, pedestrians do not have the right of way on the crossing except when the green pedestrian light is showing. Pedestrian must push button on light pole for pedestrian green light. For the convenience of the blind, a bell will ring when the pedestrian light turns green. At other pedestrian crossings throughout the island (marked by zebra stripes across the road), pedestrians do have the right of way and motorised traffic must stop in deference to pedestrians.

Some Important Traffic Signs
