Biden's attack on Hungary is utterly stupid. Here they are, diversifying their energy supply so they're less reliant on Russian energy. Europeans talk a lot about Putin, but line up to buy energy from him. bbj.hu/inside-view/ne...

natural gas from Shell that will be supplied over seven years starting from 2021.

It will come in the form of liquified natural gas via the LNG terminal at Krk Island in Croatia. In order to put this landmark deal into perspective, this means that approximately 1/10 of Hungary’s gas consumption will be covered for seven years from LNG sources that are supplied from sources other than Russia.

Received by NSD/FARA Registration Unit 09/27/2023 3:04:40 PM

Larry @Larrybird19701 · Oct 20, 2020

David, Ukrainians could have used the same Krk terminal to get LNG. They passed. I know first hand.