JILL, WIFE AGED 40

I wanted to write and say thanks. Suddenly I can see some light in our relationship again.

Prior to coaching I had even started planning for what I saw was the inevitable demise of our marriage.
I realise now that this was just anxiety but it was real and painful at the time.

My husband and I were unable to express what was really bothering us. After coaching, when I said to him I noticed a huge change, he was defensive and said it was me who had become more reasonable!
No matter. He's now the person I married and I thank you.

Feedback from couples using my system

ANDREW AND ANN

Andrew and Ann sought help with co-parenting. They had decided to separate due to constant arguments and bickering, and tension at home.

They learned a communication framework, which allowed them to resolve some old resentments and ease some emotional pain. They then learned how to show their love to each other in a meaningful way. Result– they stayed together and had 2 more children.

Years later they emailed me and said, "Thanks for saving our marriage."

KYLIE AND DARREN

Alcohol had become a huge problem in Kylie and Darren's marriage causing arguments and hurts.

Part of Kylie's email after coaching: "Thanks so much for last Tuesday. We both feel it was a real turning point for us and believe that a healthy, happy future is now possible.

I realised so much about Darren's fears after listening to you and so much now makes sense.
