Child Leadership Questions:

How many men did Jesus send out to tell people about God?
(72.)

The men knew this was going to be hard work because they were going to travel long distances.
What could they take with them into the cities?
(Nothing.)

What did Jesus tell the disciples to do when they got to the city?
(Heal sick people. Tell others about Jesus.)

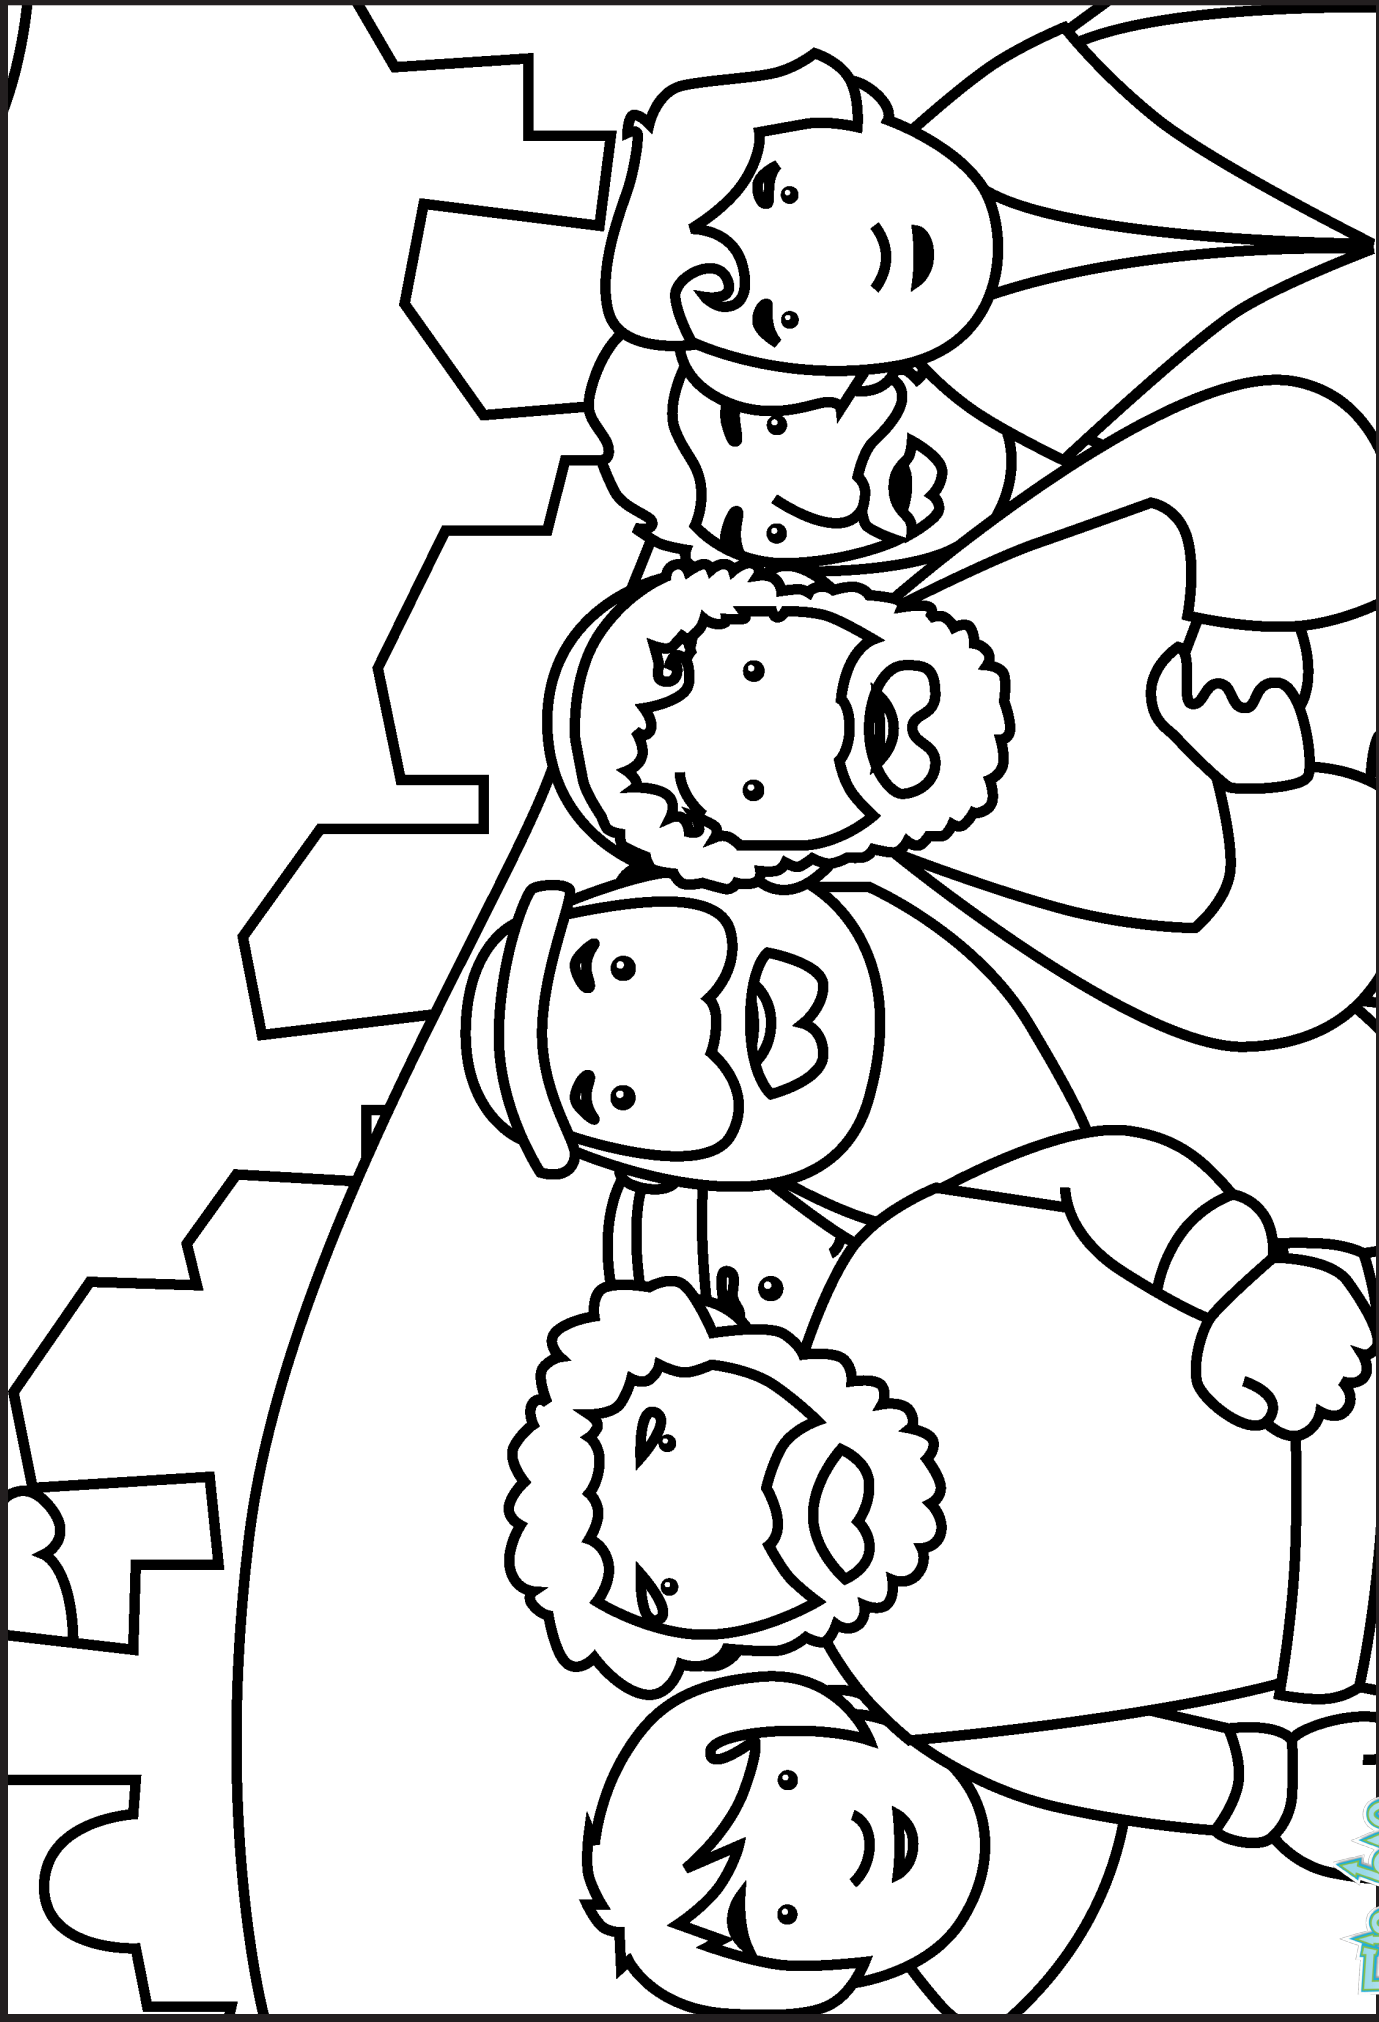

Did Jesus tell the disciples that there would be people who did not want them to tell others about Him?
(Yes.)

How did the disciples feel when they saw sick people healed and when people learned about Jesus?
(Joyful.)

The disciples worked hard and their hard work paid off when they saw sick people healed and when the people learned about Jesus. You can work hard like the disciples did. You work hard when you do something difficult and don't give up.

OPTIONAL FAMILY ACTIVITY: HARD YARD WORK

Your children learned about working hard today. The disciples went out and worked hard teaching and healing others. We need to work hard at everything we do, too. Take some time to go work in the yard together as a family. Give everyone a different job to be responsible for finishing. One person may be in charge of pulling the weeds or raking up the leaves. Take a timer outside with you or keep track of the time on a watch. Elect one leader to yell, "What will we do?" every 15 minutes. Then, have everyone yell back "We Will Work Hard!" After the yard work is finished, take a few minutes and complement each person on how hard he or she worked that day. The disciples worked hard, and we need to be like them and work hard, too.

Jesus sent the disciples out to other cities. (Luke 10:1-20)
