

SQUADRON SEVEN LEADERSHIP STRUCTURE

Officer Roles

Squad Commander

The Squadron Commander is the leader of the unit. He holds the highest rank and is responsible for providing a sense of direction and an overall structure for the Squad. In addition, the Commander will provide the Squadron with two levels of communications platforms: Ventrilo, and private Squadron Forums (via guildlaunch).

The Squadron Commander will establish and maintain the roster, assign ranks, sign off on all medal awards, and is also considered to be the 'Tank' class lead.

Squad Medic

The Squadron Medic is the 'Healer' class lead. The Medic will be responsible for advising other members on effective methods for healing their teams, and will coordinate healers during any large scale Squadron events.

Squad Tactician

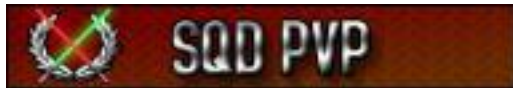

The Squadron Tactician is the 'Damage' class lead. The tactician will be responsible for advising other members on effective methods for dealing damage effectively, and will coordinate damage classes during any large scale Squadron events. The Squadron Tactician is also responsible for developing effective team tactics used during major encounters and maintaining knowledge of the various Flashpoints.

Squad Liaison

The Squadron Liaison is a PR position that combines Recruiting and Ambassador roles. The Liaison will maintain a recruiting thread on the SW:ToR forums, assist new recruits with general questions, and is responsible for any intra-guild communications with existing or potential alliance members.

Squad PvP Officer

The PvP Officer maintains a working knowledge of all things related to player versus player content and relays this information to the guild. He will also gauge the memberships interest level in PvP and establish PvP teams accordingly.

Squad Technical Officer

The Squadron's Technical Officer is primarily responsible for maintaining the Squads Technical Library. This includes, but is not limited to, creating new threads with basic gameplay information, and moving threads from other forums into the library if they are suitable. The Technical Officer is also required to stay abreast of any game changes via patch notes and relay important changes to the rest of the Squadron.

Sith Ops

Sith Ops is the leader of the Squadrons Imperial faction guild. They will determine the server this guild is created on, establish and maintain its roster, bank, and any and all other leadership responsibilities associated with creating and maintaining our dark side counterpart guild.