These statements are based on various assumptions and may not be accurate because of risks and uncertainties surrounding these assumptions. Factors listed below, as well as other factors, may cause actual results to differ significantly from these forward-looking statements. There is no guarantee that any of the events anticipated by these forward-looking statements will occur. If any of the events occur, there is no guarantee what effect they will have on company operations or financial condition. The company will not update these forward-looking statements after the date of this news release.

Some forward-looking statements discuss the company's plans, strategies and intentions. They use words such as "expects," "may," "will," "believes," "should," "approximately," "anticipates," "estimates," and "plans." In addition, these words may use the positive or negative or other variations of those terms.

This release contains forward-looking statements regarding the company's expectations during the fourth quarter of 2012, including slightly improved selling prices and comparable sales volumes for Western logs, increased demand and slightly improved price realizations for export logs, slightly lower Southern log realizations due to mix and a small seasonal increase in fee harvest volume, increased silviculture costs, earnings from non-strategic land sales expected to be flat, and comparable earnings from the Timberlands segment; a seasonal decline in pricing and demand, and lower earnings from the Wood Products segment; lower selling prices for fluff pulp, increased sales volumes, lower maintenance expense, somewhat higher energy costs and comparable earnings from the Cellulose Fibers segment; and a seasonal increase in home closings, lower average margins due to mix, higher selling expenses due to additional volume, and slightly lower earnings from single-family homebuilding operations in the Real Estate segment. Major risks, uncertainties and assumptions that affect the company's businesses and may cause actual results to differ from these forward-looking statements, include, but are not limited to:

- the effect of general economic conditions, including employment rates, housing starts, interest rate levels, availability of financing for home mortgages, and strength of the U.S. dollar;

- performance of the company's manufacturing operations, including maintenance requirements;
- the successful execution of internal performance plans, including restructurings and cost reduction initiatives;
- the level of competition from domestic and foreign producers;
- raw material and energy prices and transportation costs;
- the effect of forestry, land use, environmental and other governmental regulations;
- the effect of weather and the risk of loss from fires, floods, windstorms, hurricanes, pest infestation and other natural disasters;
- federal tax policies;
- legal proceedings;
- the effect of timing of retirements and changes in the market price of company stock on charges for stock-based compensation;
- changes in accounting principles;
- performance of pension fund investments and related derivatives; and
- other factors described under "Risk Factors" in the Company's annual report on Form 10-K and quarterly reports on Form 10-Q.

The company also is a large exporter and is affected by changes in economic activity in Europe and Asia, particularly Japan and China. It is affected by changes in currency exchange rates, particularly the relative value of the U.S. dollar to the euro and the Canadian dollar and the relative value of the euro to the yen. Restrictions on international trade or tariffs imposed on imports also may affect the company.

EBITDA excluding special items, as we define it, is operating income from continuing operations adjusted for depreciation, depletion, amortization, special items and interest included in cost of products sold. EBITDA excluding special items should not be considered in isolation from and is not intended to represent an alternative to our results computed under GAAP.
