

Wildix US 2018

For immediate release:

The world of browser-based Unified Communications has been growing steadily over the years, and according to Gartner, the use of web based real-time communications (WebRTC) for enterprise communications will rise from 1% (in 2016) to 15% by 2019. There is a common misconception in the industry that fully browser-based UCaaS is a new technology, still emerging.

Nothing could be further from the truth. In fact, Wildix has been a leader in WebRTC and Unified Communications since its inception in 2005. They were first to introduce the WebRTC technology into the market back in 2011. With a growing base of research facilities and offices across Europe, it was a natural progression to bring their knowledge and expertise to the US officially, with its first US headquarters in Columbus, OH. The team at Wildix has prided themselves in continuing to be the industry leader in the development of browser-based UC&C solutions and VoIP products.

The Wildix system is a complete and scalable solution for companies that need to upgrade their communication tools by introducing features such as video conference, chat and users presence. Unlike other solutions in the market, Wildix offers a complete range of hardware and software products as well as Unified Communications and Collaboration features. Wildix's solution is the first to fully leverage WebRTC as a conferencing system and will transform the way that people communicate online, with organizations being able to offer better customer service to anyone using just a web browser. The user friendly solutions ensure an easy to maintain solution with high end-user satisfaction. With this kind of product, the team at Wildix is always looking for enthusiastic and qualified individuals to bring this technology to the customer.

Wildix is excited to bring their knowledge and know how to this growing partner network throughout the country. This team of Certified Business Partners provides the high quality products and installation that the team at Wildix prides themselves in; they are ambassadors for Wildix, helping small to medium sized businesses achieve their goals with solutions catered to their needs. Being a Wildix partner means having access to 24-hour support for sales and marketing needs as well as the Wildix Academy- full of dynamic technical courses. Wildix believes that education is important and keeps it's technicians up to date on the latest technology trends to ensure success.

“A Wildix partnership is a partnership that adds value to your business via marketing, training and tech support,” says Robert Cooper, General Manager at Wildix US. “We offer a high value, high touch partnership - we work closely with you and develop a real hands-on relationship, listen to your needs, and offer solutions to any issues you may have, because we value your feedback; we value you; and at the end of the day, your success is our success.”

The team at Wildix can help achieve a smart solution for any business that will ensure employees are productive and happy while establishing a clear return on investment through usability. The valued network of partners is imperative in achieving success in the Unified Communications market, bringing the technology to life through collaboration.
