

A Return to Our Roots

By Domonique Savoy

A space where I grow and share my own "harvest," whether that's writing, art, projects, knowledge, or services.

Herbs, Wood, and Ritual

A space where I grow and share my own "harvest," whether that's writing, art, projects, knowledge, or services.

Inward – Herbalism

Plant profiles, medicinal formulations, and healing practices rooted in the land and lineage. This is the space of listening, tending, and restoring through the medicine of the earth.

of the earth.

Motherwort

A heart-calming ally for softening grief and restoring inner rhythm.

Mugwort Dream Balm

Handmade with intention. Supports intuition and restful sleep.

Outward — Woodworking

Built by hand, grounded in purpose. Here you'll find altars, stools, and other objects shaped with reverence — not just for function, but for legacy and lineage.

Small Ancestral Altar (Coming Soon)

More to be shared in the future. More to be shared in the future.

Hand-Made Herbal Tools (Coming Soon)

More to be shared in the future. More to be shared in the future.

Small Ancestral Altar (Coming Soon)

Meant for photos, water, and offerings. More details coming soon.

Hand-Made Herbal Tools (Coming Soon)

Made with intention. A symbol of daily ritual.

Reflections

Essays, poetry, and meditations that explore cyclic living, plant medicine, and rituals in alignment with Indigenous/African worldviews. Writing serves as a companion to craft and healing.

Time is Not Linear

Living in rhythm with the African concept of time. A call to slow down and realign.

When the Tools Talk Back

Reflections on woodworking, spirit, and the intimacy of shaping form.

When the Tools Talk Back

Reflections on woodworking, spirit, and the intimacy of shaping form.

About This Space

This site is a living altar. It holds what's been passed down and what's been picked back up — from the leaves to the lathe. It's not for everyone — and that's intentional.
