

I do feel I could use, help making sure my readers are able to follow the story straight through and visualize the moment. I feel like with me reverting from past to present tense, it may confuse them. I could also work on spatial details, as well as capturing my emotions well enough with my words. That's all.