

Name of Reviewer: Nour Ali (4)
Name of Author: Manuel Sacasa Moran

Narrative Essay Peer-Review

Does the author follow a narrative arc? Should the author start the story in a different place?

Yes, the narrator follows the story from the beginning to the end, then links the moral to the present.

Does the author use sensory and spatial details in their writing? Which areas need improvement?

There was very little imagery used. Scenes were definitely described but not in great detail. Spatial details could definitely be used when describing the ^{field}.

Does the author indicate why this moment is important? Does the author do this in one or multiple sections? Should they change their approach? Does the author indicate how they changed?

Some moments are made important by how the paragraph is transitioned into. However, the injury should be made more important.

Does the narrative feel complete? Or does the author need to provide the reader with more information?

Yes, it does feel complete.

Name of Reviewer: Nicole

Name of Author: Manuel

Narrative Essay Peer-Review

Does the author follow a narrative arc? Should the author start the story in a different place?

Yes, I like how the author started and how he went through how he got introduced to the sport.

Does the author use sensory and spatial details in their writing? Which areas need improvement?

Not really, I think this is something that the essay definitely needs more of.

Does the author indicate why this moment is important? Does the author do this in one or multiple sections? Should they change their approach? Does the author indicate how they changed?

Yes, they explained how Track affected them and also how their injury affected them.

Does the narrative feel complete? Or does the author need to provide the reader with more information?

Its kind of complete, all it needs is more details and imagery of their experience.

