

Don't Be Part of The Cycle

Social media use takes over your real life connections

These often end up in separation or divorce, which makes the person try to find a connection back online so they don't stay alone.

Excess social media use make people misinterpret things or lose real life connections

Seek Couples Counseling