

This topographic map depicts the Volderau region in the Zillertal. The central feature is the Ranzbach river, which flows from the south towards the north. Several tributaries are shown, including the Krummes Tal, Krotzbach, and Mischbach. The map is characterized by dense green forest cover and rugged terrain. A prominent mountain peak, Brennerspitze, is marked with a red triangle and labeled with its elevation of 2877 meters. The map includes a scale bar indicating distances up to 800 meters, a north arrow, and a QR code in the bottom right corner. Various place names and geographical features are labeled throughout the map.
