

Crystal Kim

Crystal Kim has been a public defender in the 15th Judicial Circuit since 2013. She has represented clients in misdemeanor, felony, juvenile and SVP cases. Since 2016, Crystal has been a part of the juvenile resentencing unit where she represents child offenders convicted of homicide, attempted homicide and PBL offenses. Crystal graduated from Johns Hopkins University with bachelor's degrees in Anthropology and Psychological and Brain sciences. Prior to law school, she was the volunteer research coordinator for the National Institute for Study, Prevention and Treatment of Sexual Trauma, and presented research regarding sex offenders and persons with paraphilic disorders at the American Academy for Psychiatry and the Law, the American Criminal Justice Society, and World Psychiatric Association. Crystal has a J.D. from Georgetown University.