

Matthew Glaser

Matt Glaser is a lifelong resident of Connecticut attending Canterbury School and Clark University where he graduated with a BA in Computer Science and played ice hockey. Matt continues to play and referee ice hockey. By trade, Matt has been a Senior Network Engineer with The Network Support Company for the past 18 years. Matt is married with three sons, all three of which are talented lacrosse players and all round athletes.

Matt has been involved in youth lacrosse and ice hockey since 1996 as a board member, Master Scheduler and coach. Matt has coached youth lacrosse teams at the Bantam, Lightning, Junior and Senior level. For the past 6 years, Matt has been first the the assistant coach and now the head coach of the Nonnewaug High School Lacrosse team.

Lynx Lacrosse was founded in 2007. Matt took over Lynx Lacrosse in 2009. Through Lynx Lacrosse, players are given the experience to face high level competition with exceptional coaching though out the off season. During the summer, fall and winter, the teams compete at three levels 7th / 8th grade and High School JV and Varsity. Lynx teams compete during the summer and fall in league and tournament play. During the winter, teams compete indoors playing box lacrosse and 2-3-2 small field lacrosse. It is the Lynx Lacrosse belief that the combination of fun off season lacrosse activities and participation with other players from the region is a means to improve skills and compete at a higher level, to build friendships, grow the sport and enjoy a great lacrosse experience.

In July 2013, Matt was invited by Israel Lacrosse to fly to Israel to teach youth clinics, coach college level league games and help evaluate players from all over the world for the Israeli National Team that finished in 9th place in the Denver CO World Games in June 2014. Matt helped coach the Israel National U19 team in December of 2013. That team practiced at the Olympic Training facility in Netanya Israel and played in a tournament in Warsaw Poland. Matt continues to be active with Israel Lacrosse.

Matt is a community leader in youth sports. He has strengthened relationships with the community, creating opportunities for everyone to play. Besides working with elite programs like Unparalleled Lacrosse of Wilton, Matt has worked with and /or coached players from Nonnewaug Lacrosse, Wolcott Lacrosse, Pomperaug Lacrosse, Danbury Lacrosse, Litchfield Lacrosse, Wamogo Lacrosse, Watertown Lacrosse, Chase Collegiate and Holy Cross. Several former Lynx players are now playing at the Collegiate Level.
