Scholarship Application

The National Association of Women Lawyers' ("NAWL") Regional General Counsel Institute is a conference for in-house counsel seeking to increase their effectiveness and build their skill sets. NAWL is providing scholarships to enable in-house attorneys actively employed at non-profit organizations, in government positions, at educational institutions, or small companies, or those who are currently unemployed and in transition from a non-profit, government, education position, or small company within the last 12 months, to attend the Institute regardless of their organization's ability to pay for such attendance. Depending upon demonstrated need, and through the generosity of our sponsors, the scholarship will pay the tuition for the Institute in its entirety.

Interested applicants should complete the below application and forward it to Karen Richardson at richardk@nawl.org no later than September 16, 2015.
