

What is LAGLOBE?

LAGLOBE (Latin America and Europe in a Global Word) is a multidisciplinary, international master's programme offered by a consortium of three European universities with an outstanding reputation in their relative fields: Université Sorbonne Nouvelle - Paris 3, Universidad de Salamanca and Stockholms Universitet. The LAGLOBE program is an Erasmus Mundus Joint Master's Degree that lasts two years (four semesters - 120 ECTS). It will provide academic and professional opportunities -in social sciences and humanities- in Europe and Latin America.

The goal of our Master

Relations between Europe and Latin America constantly evolve and develop, reflecting new realities in areas of common cooperation (social, economic, cultural, educative, etc.) in a rapidly evolving world (recent presidential elections and referenda, changing global alliances etc.).

That is why, now more than ever, we have the intention to encourage the formation of future experts with both theoretical and practical knowledge. Our aim is to foster cooperation initiatives in areas such as good governance, environment, international trade, human rights, gender equality, poverty reduction, as well as to contribute to the strengthening of the ties between Latin American and Europe.

We intend to equip future researchers and private sector and civil society actors with a better understanding of the interaction between the two regions, thanks to a multidisciplinary and multidimensional perspective. We also aim at preparing them for skilled jobs in the public sector, at international organizations or the private sector.

LAGLOBE's Organization

The LAGLOBE takes place in three different universities, in three languages (Spanish, English and French).

In the first semester (30 ECTS), all classes are taught in Spanish. Students will attend classes at Universidad de Salamanca in the Institute of Iberoamerica where they will have courses on Latin America in political science, economics, history and communications.

The Erasmus + Scholarship

Erasmus Mundus Joint Master's Degrees (EMJMD) scholarships are offered to Partner country applicants and to Programme country applicants.

The scholarship is awarded exclusively for a full-time enrolment in the LAGLOBE Master's programme and will cover the entire duration of the EMJMD study programme.

EMJMD scholarships include:

- student participation costs (including the tuition fees, full insurance coverage and any other mandatory costs related to student participation in the course)
- a contribution to student travel and installation cost
- a subsistence allowance for the entire duration of the EMJMD study programme (24 months maximum).

Self-funded candidates:

Candidates can apply under a self-funding scheme, and will have to pay the participation costs. LAGLOBE participation costs do not cover any living or travel expense. The student must have adequate financial support (proof of financial capacity will be requested when applying for a visa). In case of sponsorship or application to external scholarship programmes, self-funded candidates will be required to provide necessary evidence before the LAGLOBE programme starts.

Currently, the consortium charges the following participation costs for the totality of the program (2 years):

- EU students: 8 980 €
- Non-EU students: 17 280 €

The fees cover registration and tuition in all the universities, the insurance and the issue of the diplomas. The fees do not cover accommodation costs, other expenses like travel and installation costs.
