CHALLENGE & SOLUTIONS

For freelance developers, time is often the most limited resource in a project. Their clients have deadlines, and those clients often have their own client deadlines to meet, and so on. Freelancer Jesús Pereira needed to create Excel and Word reports in the Windows Forms applications he was building, and turned to Syncfusion's file-format libraries for a solution that was fast and easy to implement.

Using Essential XlsIO and Essential DocIO, Syncfusion's libraries for working with Excel files and Word files, Pereira was able to build and manage reports in these formats without any dependencies on Microsoft Office. The libraries have been built from scratch and refined for more than a decade to provide blazing-fast performance, a comprehensive API, and compatibility across the latest and older versions of these files. The components proved flexible as well, allowing Pereira to scale them as needed, whether working with single-page documents or enormous workbooks.
