Aristolochic acid C is a carcinogenic compound found in Aristolochia and Radix that has commonly been used in traditional Chinese medicine.

References

Caution: This product is intended for laboratory and research use only. It is not for human or drug use.