Ractopamine is an agonist at β1/2-adrenergic receptors that is used in livestock to increase muscle mass and decrease body fat.

In vivo, administration of ractopamine decreases retroperitoneal and epididymal/parametrial fat mass and increases adipose tissue apoptosis.

References

Caution: This product is intended for laboratory and research use only. It is not for human or drug use.