Capecitabine is an antifolate anticancer chemotherapeutic that acts as a prodrug of 5-fluorouracil (5-FU), a fluoropyrimidine carbamate that inhibits thymidylate synthase. Capecitabine is converted to 5-FU by thymidine phosphorylase in vivo. Capecitabine displays varying efficacy in the treatment of colorectal, metastatic breast, prostate, ovarian, and pancreatic cancers.

References

Caution: This product is intended for laboratory and research use only. It is not for human or drug use.