Description

Neopterin is a pteridine metabolite of GTP. Neopterin is an endogenous biomarker of cellular immune response and oxidative stress. Increases in neopterin levels are associated with increases in ROS, autoimmune diseases, and viral or bacterial infections.

References

Caution: This product is intended for laboratory and research use only. It is not for human or drug use.