Fexofenadine is a second-generation histamine H1 receptor antagonist. Fexofenadine exhibits antihistamine activity and is clinically used to treat seasonal allergic rhinitis.

References

Caution: This product is intended for laboratory and research use only. It is not for human or drug use.