FROM WASTING, CONVERTING, OR SECRETING ASSETS UPON FILING A CLAIM FOR EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1.1. Article 1 of Chapter 50 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 50-23. Automatic order for equitable distribution claims.

(a) As used in this Article, "automatic order" is the standing order entered by the court to prevent the waste, dissipation, or secreting of assets or increasing debt or other liabilities and which is entered at the time an equitable distribution claim is filed in an action. The court must enter the form order created by the Administrative Office of the Courts for the automatic order.

(b) The automatic order must contain the following provisions:

(1) Neither party shall sell, transfer, encumber, conceal, assign, remove, withdraw, or in any way dispose of, without the consent of the other party in writing, or by order of the court, any property, including real estate, personal property, cash, accounts, stocks, mutual funds, bank accounts, loyalty points or miles, cars, and boats whether individually or jointly titled, except in the usual course of business, for customary and usual household expenses, or for reasonable attorneys' fees in connection with any claim filed under this Chapter.

(2) Neither party shall sell, transfer, encumber, assign, remove, withdraw, or in any way dispose of any tax-deferred funds, stocks, or other assets held in any individual retirement accounts, 401K accounts, profit sharing plans, Keogh accounts, or any other pension or retirement account, and the parties shall further refrain from applying for or requesting the payment of retirement benefits or annuity payments of any kind, without the consent of the other party in writing, or upon further order of the court; except that any party who is already in pay status may continue to receive such payments thereunder.

(3) Neither party shall sell, transfer, encumber, assign, remove, withdraw, or in any way dispose of any property owned by or for the benefit of the children, including any 529 plan accounts, real estate, personal property, cash, accounts, stocks, mutual funds, bank accounts, loyalty points or miles, and cars whether individually or jointly titled, except for customary and usual expenses historically paid for the benefit of the children from those assets without the consent of the other party in writing or by order of the court.

(4) Neither party shall incur unreasonable debts hereafter, including further borrowing against any credit line secured by the family residence, further encumbering any assets, or unreasonably using credit cards or cash advances against credit cards, except in the usual course of business or for customary and usual household expenses, or for reasonable attorneys' fees in connection with any claim filed under this Chapter.

(5) Neither party shall remove the other party as beneficiary, co-owner, cosigner, or authorized user of any account in subdivisions (1) through (4) of this subsection nor shall they add a nonparty to any account as a beneficiary, co-owner, cosigner, or authorized user of any account in subdivisions (1) through (4) of this subsection without the consent of the other party in writing, or by order of the court.

(6) Neither party shall cause the other party or the children to be removed from any existing medical, hospital, and dental insurance coverage, without the consent of the other party in writing, or by order of the court. Each party shall maintain the existing medical, hospital, and dental insurance coverage in full force and effect until the parties agree in writing or the court orders otherwise.

(7) Neither party shall change the beneficiaries of any existing life insurance policy without the consent of the other party in writing, or by order of the court. Each party shall maintain the existing life insurance, automobile insurance, homeowner's insurance, and renter's insurance in full force and effect until the parties agree in writing or the court orders otherwise.

(8) This order is entered without prejudice to either party.

(c) The plaintiff shall serve the automatic order with the summons and complaint when there is a newly filed equitable distribution claim as required by Rule 4 of the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure. If the equitable distribution claim is filed in an existing action, the automatic order shall be served in a manner provided for in Rule 5 of the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure for service and return of process.

(d) The automatic order shall be immediately binding upon the party who filed the initial equitable distribution claim and upon the other party once served with the automatic order.

(e) The automatic order shall remain in full force and effect until a final order is entered regarding the equitable distribution claim, unless terminated, modified, or amended by the court upon motion of either party or upon entry of a consent order by the parties.

(f) Entry of the automatic order shall not limit or restrict other remedies or protections available to the parties."
