Posted July 4, 2016 CrewArty Leave a comment Dubsmash - a lip sync app that lets you record videos, although it's seemingly someone else's voice, noise or sound and share it with friends on WhatsApp, Facebook or download it and post it anywhere. It was released in November 2014 by Jonas Druppell, Roland Grenke and Rugir Patel. Since its launch it has been downloaded more than 100 million times on Google Play alone, this multilingual platform offers its services in Spanish, German, Chinese, Korean, French, Hebrew, Hindi, Hungarian, Indonesian, English, Italian, Japanese, Malay, Dutch, Polish, Portuguese, Ruman, Russian, Turkish and Arabic. Dubsmash app – everything you need to know Dubsmash App Install, Dub video about yourself This video messaging app developed for Android and Apple, which allows you to record and add or soundtracks downloaded by other users or your own, and duplicate your video with someone else's voice. Most people use it to create clips of themselves singing or performing a movie scene and then sending it to their friends through the app or uploading them to Instagram and other social media websites. There are no restrictions on what sounds can be used, it can be opera, musicals, songs, TV shows and movies. The app offers you several lists from which you can choose your soundtrack, you have Dubsmash selected by users, sharp voices, parties, hello and doe, flirting, and a search button if you're looking for a specific track. The way it works is quite simple, after the registration process, you see the lists mentioned above and choose one of yours to your liking and then record your video, and seconds later the Dubsmash app processed the video and edited it according to the audio you selected, once it's done, you'll be given the choice to share it via WhatsApp, Facebook or upload it to your phone. One of its best features is simplicity, making it easy for people of all ages and those who are not very good with recent technological advances. Also, it's a lot of fun to sound silly! You can get the Dubsmash app by going to the Play Store or AppStore, or find it online if you choose the latter, it's advisable to be careful what you download and where you download it from, as there's another app called Dubsmash 2 online, however it's not an updated version but malware. This program acts as the original, but it steals personal information, erases files, among other things. Legal or not? As for legality, the use of Dubsmash itself is perfectly legal, however the copyright to the downloaded sounds is not, and users can certainly be judged, nevertheless, the chances of happening are slim at best. according to lawyer Wilde Beuger Solmecke, sending copyrighted material to friends privately is all right, the issue is placing it on public forums because to the popular faith, it is not enough to deny copyright infringement when posting to Facebook, because the video was only available to a handful of friends. If the user has many friends, the position can not be considered private in the sense of the law. In addition, attorney Christian Solmecke says people should only rely on copyright-free sounds, such as animal noises or audio recorded by users themselves if they want to post them publicly. Otherwise: no longer funny videos, they must be distributed exclusively by private messenger or email and not spread further online. Famous artists use it Despite the fact that audio must be recorded by users, it has not kept people from going viral and used by many famous artists. Some videos you can find online: Kate Upton and Justin Verlander quoting Step Brothers, where Will Ferrell is unable to understand the interviewer's name. Khloe Kardashian and Kylie Jenner rein-introduce a grape moment of hilarious love, apparently they really really love each other. Hugh Jackman mimics three hundred and ninety-four Professor Sneep. Adam Levine chose Samuel L. Jackson's line from the 1994 film Pulp Fiction. Nicole Schersinger, dispelling rumors of her dating Eden Sheeran, performed Ed's hit Thinking Out Loud all the time as she wrote that they 'broke up today' in her post. J-Lo makes a scene from Scott Pilgrim against the world, if you didn't know better, you think it's actually hers. Reese Witherspoon and Sofia Vergara mimic Taylor Swift plus a small twist you'll never see. Demi Lovato with her serious face while going all over Nemo on her fans. Kylie Jenner recreates Kim Kardashian TV's one-scene liner. And these are just some of the many other videos you can find on social media websites, just check them out on your favorite site, inspire and create your own videos. In general, Dubsmash is an app that can be used on Android or iOS to create videos using someone else's voice, noises or any other sound. He has had a good reception around the world thanks to his simplicity and fun things that can come out of him. You don't have to be tech savvy, all you need is a phone and will do something completely pointless for the sake of it, and have a good laugh afterwards. Now you can support your favorite creators with gifts - go to the creator's profile with the gift enabled, choose a virtual gift, and the creator will get it (and will be able to thank you in the comment!) question? Comments? DM us @dubsmash or email support@dubsmash.com I, like many other Cos players, have been very disappointed with TikTok as of late, but thanks to the peer proposal, many of us are starting to switch to Dubsmash instead. I know that many cosplays (including me) are currently using both apps for our content as the app grows, but I feel very confident that Dubsmash and Cosplay have a bright future together. The highest point of praise I can give Dubsmash is that developers actually listen to their user base. You can see more reviews and see how responsive they are. In the past, they have always reacted quickly and added features because their users offer them, while many people believe that TikTok does not listen to its user base at all. I agree with many of the suggestions my peers add, such as the ability to save drafts for editing or posting at a later time, the ability to make video responses to comments, more filters, the possibility of pause, etc. while many seem to be trying to turn Dubsmash into a replica of TikTok, they are very important features that keep many people on the fence about switching apps completely. Regardless, I have faith in the development team to help the app grow and add any features they think would be better. Whoa! We appreciate your feedback. We are working on new things for the program. In the meantime, visit dubsmash.com latest update (5.7.0) for a new drawing tool and more colors. Stay tuned for exciting news! @ This app is great. You can crest a duet and with a little digging you can find the content you enjoy. App developers are clearly working hard and listening to THEIR users, which is probably the best aspect Application. There are a few problems I'm sure the app developers are considering to fix as: undervalued (below 14) kids in the app, page trend towards user interest, app crashes tend to have and limited time Have. All these things I've seen mentioned in other reviews. However, there is only one issue that I think should be considered soon: There is no black system. As a cosplayer the ability to store videos in an app before posting is a lifesaver as I can't get into costume every day and I tend to stock up on drafts to accommodate for a period of time. I know of about 20 people from the cosplay community on Tiktok who would like to move to this app and there's probably a lot more who would if the project feature was added. Overall this app has amazing potential to thrive and thrive against Tiktok. And I would like to personally thank the development team for listening to users to improve the app. I hope I can see more content cosplays out there soon, but now the app needs to be used randomly and as a backup if you make content in advance to publish later. We appreciate your feedback and suggestions. We are working to make everyone in the app happy. Stay out of dubsmash.com for exciting updates! In the meantime, check out the latest release (5.7.0) for new features such as camera zoom, more colors and a drawing tool! For more information visit dubsmash.com This app is good, but there need to be some things fixed as well as suggestions to add to make the app better. First, fix this new effects it makes video backward and slow.. another thing that needs to fix it is when you edit a video for a long time it comes out of you and then all the video deletes . ONLY NOTIFY me when someone likes to follow or comment / reply and tags me not when the people I follow downloads, especially if someone follows a lot . Don't mute the video when I go to the comments section. My whole fyp is the same people and sounds even if I upgrade so please fix it all when you have time. Now some suggestions to make the app better choose video cover, post photos , let's Dm someone just add a request to PPL we will not follow, more filters ESPECIALLY green screen / video screen , animated sketches, voice affects,b able to make the page private, save the video to the selected tab , be able to pause video , make history like Instagram, &amp;b highlights, the last video you post or the one you're pinning, make it smaller as another post, but still at the top so it can be pinned down, be able to go live, instead of adding all the videos together let's swipe like Instagram, take the following on the activity tab, explore the page to see other videos , and that's more to come Hello , Camm56778! We appreciate your feedback and suggestions. We are working to ensure that our were happier than they are now, and all this is marked and taken into account for subsequent updates. Stay up with updates for exciting news on dubsmash.com! At the same time, be sure to tag us on your social media and posts @dubsmash.
