About Techland Houston

Techland offers a complete technical theater solution - whether it is teaching curriculum for certified professional development or providing the necessary tools for your administrators, directors, teachers, and volunteers. Although theatrical performances have been around for centuries, an aggregated source for curriculum, technique, and proper facility equipment and standards is rarely available. By default, administrators rely on existing T.E.K.S. and pre-defined rubrics which, in most cases, offer very little information to build and maintain a technical theatre program.

Born from a production company, our roots are in show design and implementation. We have invested years of researching, learning and executing our craft. Our staff of seasoned professionals continue to lead in the advancement of technical theatre. Drawing on this experience, we have designed specific curriculum and standards bridging the knowledge gap for technical theatre.

We carry products from over 150 manufacturers which we keep in stock and are available on the shelf on a daily basis. We have spent countless hours carefully choosing our product offering to ensure that we sell the highest quality products at the most competitive price.

About CostumeWorx

In addition to stage lighting and supplies, we have launched CostumeWorx, employing a full staff of designers, costumers, and makeup artists. Our massive warehouse in Houston's Historical Washington Corridor, houses thousands of costumes spanning periods from Medieval-Renaissance to Contemporary. We outfit entire plays and musicals nationwide, from period-accurate costumes to simple accessories. We can alter to fit from our existing stock or custom build intricate designs.

As a natural progression, we have recently opened our in-house fabric store carrying fabrics, trims and notions curated with "stage presence" in mind. We also stock an extensive line of stage make-up, wigs, prosthetics, character shoes, tights and accessories. We encourage you to leverage our decades of experience when executing your vison for your next production.
