Ann Meyers Drysdale Award: The U.S. Basketball Writers Association, formed in 1956, has named a women's All-America team since the 1996-97 season. The association has also named a national player of the year – now known as the Ann Meyers Drysdale Award – since 1987-88.

Honda Award: First presented in 1977 by Thomas Broderick. The award, presented by Honda, recognizes the collegiate woman's athlete of the year in 12 different sports. The winner of each sports' award is eligible to win the Honda Cup (formerly the Honda-Broderick Cup), which is an overall female athlete award in all sports.

Naismith Award: First presented in 1983 by the Atlanta Tip-Off Club and voted on by a panel of media and coaches. Named after Dr. James Naismith, inventor of basketball. Goes to the Player of the Year.

Wade Trophy: Sponsored by the Women's Basketball Coaches Association, the Wade Trophy/Player of the Year Program honors the national women's basketball player of the year in NCAA Division I.

Named for the late, legendary three-time national champion Delta State University coach Margaret Wade, the Wade Trophy is the first and the most prestigious award bestowed on an NCAA Division I women's basketball player. State Farm co-sponsored the award from 2003 to 2015.

WBCA: The WBCA sponsored its own Player of the Year award from 1983-2000 before partnering with the Wade Trophy.

Wooden Award: First presented in 2004 to college basketball's top women's player. The recipient is selected from the five-player John Wooden Women's All-America Team. Named for legendary former UCLA basketball coach John Wooden.
