ETA is said to be a model organization around October. Hopefully mine will roll off the ship by then! The price looks very high compared to what the rest of the world pay attached bmw-x1-spec-guide.pdf (1.08 MB, 900 views) 08-21-2012, 06:43 am #2 new member drives: X1 2013 Join date: July 2012 Location: Australia BMW Australia has updated the link and hastily replaced it with specifications without pricing information. This was because of my complaint that my dealer had charged me higher than the retail price! He called my dealer and said someone made a mistake by posting up the information on their website. What a perfect cop! I'm not happy but can't do anything as I've signed the contract. Luckily I managed to attach the original PDF with pricing for the subject before it replaced it - for the benefit of those who were getting the X1 in Australia. 08-21-2012, 08:04 am #3 Captain Drives: 15 x1 msport sdrive28 Join date: January 2009 Location: HVNY Ozzy Problem but at least you guys get On the car system as you want for the most part, you have standard guides (we can't even get them as an option) and you have a 20d xdrive that produces a staggering 42.77mpg vs. 28i get decent for its 30.17 performance. economies of scale I suppose -- probably don't sell a ton of bimmers down under my guess.
