

Daily Prayer

March 8

Reading:

“Dear One, We have received your letter and we hate to tell you—not hate so much but are a bit afraid to say—we cannot grant your requests as stated. We can only remind you of familiar things: First, faith. Faith in yourself and trust in others. We know it can be terrifying to be vulnerable, but only when you share your softest side will we be able to break through. Next, hope. Hope is not an empty fairy tale. It is the true story of all the times human beings like you have found a way to create the future, though you didn’t know how. And of course, Love. Love that demands you cherish all people, not just yourself and safety. Love that is not satisfied until every argument ends abruptly when one child says, “That hurts”

“Letter from Our Better Angels”, Sean Parker Dennison

Prayer:

O loving and giving God, please grant me this day these three gifts: faith to be confident of your goodness toward me and your powerful will toward good for the whole world; hope that is not shallow optimism but a deep trust that the future holds a purpose that will redeem; and love that I may be unafraid to give and grateful for all I receive from you.

Amen
