Prime Cuts

• There is a new guard of chefs and restaurateurs in New York who are changing the city's tastes and attitudes on a nightly basis from inside small, jam-packed, intimate spaces. In this town, the consensus right now is that less is more. And that goes for the season's crop of crazy-handsome, ridiculously cheap suits, too: Every one you see here goes for under 400 bucks

JAKE CHESSUM

The Meatball Shop
Michael Chernow

The Restaurants
Cheerful meatballs-for-the-masses hangouts in Manhattan and Brooklyn. "A lot of people in this industry take themselves a little too seriously," Chernow says. "We fucking roll meatballs and we smile."

The Suit
Welcome to the era of the cheap suit, where Grade A stuff is available at half the price you're used to paying. Sometimes even a third, as with the handsome Italian job you see here.
