

The quiet revolution - the activity and impact of the Education Endowment Foundation (EEF) 'Show me the evidence'

LCLL Event Series 2013 - 2014

HOT TOPIC

Date: Wednesday 16th October 2013

Time: 5.00pm - 7.00pm (Registration 4.45pm)

For: Headteachers, senior and middle leaders, and LCLL members

With: Dr Kevan Collins, Chief Executive, Education Endowment Foundation (EEF)

Over a thousand schools, hundreds of thousands of children and their teachers from every part of the country are involved in research funded by the Education Endowment Foundation (EEF). Schools are working with and for other schools to tackle the biggest issue in our education system – the underperformance of children facing economic disadvantage. Assembling what we know and supporting disciplined innovation and rigorous enquiry will support collective effort to improve outcomes for children facing economic disadvantage.

At this session you will:

- develop a better understanding of what has worked and how synthesising evidence can support and guide our thinking
- be introduced to the range of studies the EEF is currently supporting
- guide the EEF's future planning as we consider prospects for further study and review the EEF's approach to scale up and putting evidence to work.

Kevan will set out the EEF approach and seek your guidance on new areas for exploration and enquiry.
