Cummings Colocation Facility Access Form

Gaining access to the Cummings Colocation Facility requires you to read, agree to, and sign this form. Access to this facility is a privilege, not a right. Violation of these terms will result in the revocation of your access privileges to the Colocation Facility.

By signing this form, you agree to follow the Dartmouth College Honor Code and Dartmouth College Information Technology Policy in all manner and respects in relation to the access to and contents of Cummings 218a, the Cummings Colocation Facility.

You also agree that you will not provide access to anyone by lending them your Dartmouth ID Card. People who do not have access using their Dartmouth ID card are permitted to access the room only under the direct supervision of an authorized user. The door to the Colocation Facility should never be left propped open, no matter how briefly. Colocation Facility access is monitored and recorded by camera.

Your signature below also indicates you agree to limit your activities in the Colocation Facility to the equipment under your supervision. Access to other people’s equipment and plant equipment (air conditioning system, circuit breakers, etc.) is prohibited.

If you leave the employ or student body of Dartmouth or the equipment under your supervision is removed from the Colocation Facility, your access to the Colocation Facility will be revoked.

No food or drink is allowed in the Colocation Facility.

I agree to the terms above.
