ADA Pricing Update

New costs to acquire an Authority to Drive Airside (ADA) will be effective as of 28 March 2023. These updates have taken into consideration processing, course upgrades, administration, and CPI.

The most recent price review of the airside driving program was conducted over 5 years ago and as such, there has been an overall rise in the cost of acquiring an ADA. Included in these updates was the removal of some application and administration requirements, which has also resulted in a reduction of Category 2 application and eLearning fees.
