

Flower Ice Play

My little one had picked some flowers in the garden and I decided I needed to use them in a creative way. One muffin tray and a few hours later, we have flower ice play.

I later made more and took them into nursery and the children had super fun exploring the ice on the light table. They were even more amazed when we returned from playing outside and they had melted! This gave us the chance of a huge discussion about ice, water and melting.

Eloise Collis Hunter - www.instagram.co.uk/earlyyearsinspo