Adele Daniel always has the big picture in mind. As an attorney in our nationally recognized Complex Litigation Group, she takes the time to deeply understand the opposing side in order to forcefully rebut the opposition's arguments.

Adele graduated magna cum laude from University of Michigan Law School, where she served as an Articles Editor for the Michigan Law Review. Following her graduation, Adele clerked for Chief Judge Michael Mosman at the U.S. District Court for the District of Oregon. She then moved to Seattle to clerk for Judge Ronald Gould at the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

Interested in using litigation to make a lasting impact for consumers, Adele joined Keller Rohrback in 2019. As a member of the firm's automotive litigation team, Adele embraces the opportunity to represent deserving clients, and in so doing, deter corporations from future misconduct.

In her spare time, Adele heads to Washington's mountains and rivers for cycling, backpacking, and whitewater kayaking.
