Students who study math at Hudsonville Christian School will understand that . . .

- God created the world and the laws that govern it, and humans use the tool of math to describe the order and pattern in God's creation.
- There is brokenness in every area of God's world. Math can help us restore order in many areas.
- Mathematics helps us understand God and His world so that we can honor Him through service to others.
- Communicating mathematically includes reading, writing, and discussion of mathematical ideas.
